

STATE OPENS ATTACK ON MANLEY INSANITY PLEA AFTER EXPERT WITNESSES TESTIFY FOR DEFENSE

Coolidge Demands World Court Reservations

PRESIDENT CALLS FOR CONSCRIPTION OF WEALTH IN WAR
Executive Tells Kansas City Audience U. S. Will Adhere to Senate Court Conditions.

NATION SUFFERED LOSSES IN BATTLE
War Left Country With Debts, Mortgages and Duties to Veterans, Coolidge Says.

Kansas City, Mo., November 11.—(P)—From the base of the great monument erected in this city to the memory of the men and women of the world war and in the presence of a huge throng from the entire southwest, President Coolidge served formal notice in an Armistice day address to-day that the United States would adhere to the world court only on the conditions laid down by the senate.

The significance of the utterance from the president who at all times had urged membership in the court and in the face of reports that nations represented in the court would never accept the senate reservations to the protocol of adherence was not lost upon the crowd which stretched far out of sight but never out of hearing of the address.

Applause, in which cheers mingled, greeted the announcement and swung into a general ovation as the president a minute later concluded his speech.

The address was the climax of a seven-hour visit Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge made to Kansas City, Mo., and its neighbor, Kansas City, Kans., to-day, and was delivered before one of the greatest crowds the president ever has confronted.

Made in dedicating the $2,000,000 Liberty Memorial with its tall shaft emblematic of the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night, which in earlier days guided a nation in critical times, it was heard by a vast audience stretched for over a quarter of a mile in all directions.

Loud speakers carried the words and music to all, while the radio carried them to unseen thousands more.

The exercises, which included also addresses by Secretary Dwight Davis of the war department and Howard I. Savage, national commander of the American Legion, were followed by a public invitation luncheon at the Hotel President, attended by the President and Mrs. Coolidge and then by an automobile ride to Kansas City, Kans., marking the first time the president has been on the soil of Kansas. He left for Washington by special train at 5:30 this afternoon.

Address Is Brief.
Clear, crisp weather greeted the president.

The world's court pronouncement of the president was brief and he made a discussion of problems arising out of the war. This included a reference to national antagonisms against this country and a denial of charges that the United States had merely profited out of the war.

No mention was made of domestic politics, for, although the first formal address Mr. Coolidge has made since the elections, the event was arranged on a non-political and non-partisan basis.

A permanent court of international law.

Downfall of U. S. Seen by Pershing In Graft Conditions
Nation's End Not Far Off When Officers Can Be Bought and Sold, He Says.

Chicago, November 11.—(P)—The downfall of the United States will not be far off, "if the time ever comes when public offices can be virtually bought and sold, either directly or indirectly," General John J. Pershing, wartime commander of the American expeditionary force, declared today before a meeting of Kiwanis clubs here.

"In the light of recent events in certain states," he said, "some of our citizens would modify the methods of selecting candidates for office. If the present system encourages or permits the contributions of inordinate sums by wealthy candidates or their supporters, it should receive the most careful scrutiny by honest citizens."

"The presumption that large expenditures for campaign purposes may be made without ulterior motive does not appear to be warranted. To sanction the expenditure of excessive amounts of money to secure the nomination of candidates for office would be to exclude unjustly all but the wealthy from such contests."

General Pershing asserted that the great part taken by our country has been the favorable conclusion of the world war, adding that "there is little doubt that the contest would have terminated otherwise, had it not been that the extraordinary assistance sent by America arrived at the critical moment."

He made a plea for preparedness, contending that "if we could have armed and equipped even half a million men and sent them to France early in 1917, the probabilities are that the war could have been won that year."

He also appealed for the maintenance of law and order, quoting statistics to prove the existence of "a veritable reign of terror in many places" in the United States.

Discipline Needed.
Major General John F. O'Ryan, of New York, told a peace congress that the unity and discipline of wartime would solve in this generation the problem of ending war.

"War," said the former commander of the 27th division, "is a highly organized business, supported by governments. It does its thinking without prejudice. It is disciplined. We must have organization. Peace isn't coming in a year or a decade. But it can come in our lifetime if we will organize in time of peace, to develop a dependable substitute for war."

"Pending development of an organization to insure world peace, we must maintain our defense against war. Some of you won't like to hear me say that. But only when we prove the worth of a substitute for war can we disband our armies."

SENATE PROBE OF WEST VIRGINIA ELECTION ASKED
Vote Buying and Other Irregularities Charged by Defeated Candidate in Congress Race.

Charleston, W. Va., November 11.—(P)—Requests for an investigation by the senate campaign funds committee into the election in the sixth West Virginia congressional district and an order for a recount on the votes cast in Kanawha county were developments today in the situation which has resulted from a close contest for that seat in congress.

Both the senate investigation and the recount were sought by Representative Alfred J. Taylor, democrat, who was defeated for reelection by 35 votes by E. T. England, republican.

In a telegram to Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, democrat, chairman of the campaign fund committee, Mr. Taylor charged "that votes were purchased outright with but little or no effort to conceal the transaction" and asked for an investigation if the committee has jurisdiction over congressional elections.

Recount of the Kanawha county vote was ordered by the county commissioners over protest of counsel for Mr. England, who claimed authority for such action rested with the house of representatives and not with the county authorities. The commissioners overruled that contention and ordered the recount to start Monday.

Representative Taylor in his telegram to Senator Reed stated he was reliably informed that city, state and federal officials were active in intimidating, coercing and bribing election officials as well as voters and referred to the issuance of a warrant against Mayor W. W. Vertz of Charleston, and others "as a result of some of these illegal practices."

When served with a warrant charging the oil and department of justice investigations to their full limit, and had political one.

GREEN TO DELAY CONGRESS ACTION ON TAX REFUNDS
Chairman of House Ways and Means Committee Says Alien Property Bill Comes First.

Washington, November 11.—(P)—The income tax credit proposal of President Coolidge will have to await its place on the congressional calendar. Chairman Green, of the house ways and means committee, which first met today and announced his committee would give the alien property bill right of way. The committee had been called to meet here next Monday to consider this measure.

Confers With Mellon.
Although he has repeatedly said he would not give any thought at the approaching short session to the question of tax reduction, he had little comment to make on the tax credit idea after a conference late today with Secretary Mellon. During this visit he obtained some new information on the condition of the treasury which led the president to favor a return of the prospective surplus for this fiscal year to the taxpayers.

While he appeared none too optimistic over the prospect of a tax battle at the approaching session, Mr. Green said he would give study to the administration's plan and probably would make an announcement of his views shortly.

Neither is the committee chairman very hopeful that the president's suggestion for non-partisan consideration of the tax proposal will get very far, and it is understood he painted a rather gloomy picture to Mr. Mellon of the obstacles tax legislation might face at this session.

Alien Property Bill.
He held brighter views, however, about the alien property bill and he invited Mr. Mellon and Undersecretary Winston to appear before his committee next week to outline the stand of the administration on this proposal, which would work out a plan for immediate return of all alien property still held by the government.

It is believed that Mr. Green will endorse the administration tax credit plan, which would permit income taxpayers to obtain a credit of about 25 per cent on their first two payments of next year, if he approves of any tax legislation at this time.

Consideration of the alien property bill, however, would delay committee action on the tax credit proposal until December and probably would not permit final action by the house before January, which would leave only two months for the senate to fight over the problem and for the two houses to work out their differences.

Like the treasury, Mr. Green believes it is not feasible to go ahead now on a program for permanent downward revision of the tax rates, and he will insist that this go over until the next regular session.

Methodists Vote To Ban Tobacco For New Pastors
Class of 13 New Ministers Admitted for Trial After Anti-Tobacco Pledge.

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.
In order that all Georgia Methodist preachers in the coming decades may be free of the "tobacco habit," young ministers applying for membership in the Southern Methodist conference must take a solemn pledge to abstain from all and any use of the weed in all and any of its various forms before their applications to serve in the Methodist church are considered, according to a decision handed down in Thursday's session of the North Georgia Methodist conference, now in session at Wesley Memorial church.

North Georgia Methodists attending the conference, young and old ministers alike, appear determined to follow the letter and spirit of the law enacted some years ago, and to make provisions now that no more ministers enter the Methodist ministerial service until they have thrown off the shackles of the tobacco habit and pledged themselves to a life of total abstinence, in so far as "tobacco using" is concerned.

One Hard Smoker.
The young men admitted on trial will be given charges for the coming year under supervision of presiding elders and also given prescribed courses of study.

Young ministers applying for admission into Southern Methodist conference now, before being admitted on trial, have to give pledges to abstain from all use of tobacco. At this conference there is applying a man who for years has given court to Lady Nicotine, and is loath to part company.

DOCTORS TO PASS ON SCHOOL HOURS
Child Specialist To Hear Both Sides of Longer-School-Hour Debate at Meeting Tonight.

The pediatric section of the Fulton County Medical association, composed of physicians who specialize in diseases and treatment of children, tonight is scheduled to take a stand on the proposal to lengthen hours in city schools by one hour.

At the regular meeting of the section in the Howard street hall of the association Friday night, Superintendent of Schools Willis A. Sutton appeared before the doctors and explained his side of the controversy, which awaits decision of the board of education.

Due to the fact that a comparatively small attendance was on hand, the section decided to defer expression of an opinion in the matter until a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the association's hall, at which a speaker favoring the proposal was invited to address the body for 20 minutes, with a similar time allotted to a spokesman of those opposing the move. Ten minutes of rebuttal will be allowed each speaker.

Sutton Explains Position.
Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, Thursday issued a statement in which he declared that he had no intention of attempting to force on an unwilling citizenry a lengthened school day, but added that many objections voiced against the proposal are an outgrowth of misunderstanding.

Persons have objected to the alleged fact that children will be deprived of another hour in the fresh air.

City Honors War Heroes Once Again
Eighth Anniversary of Armistice Day Fittingly Observed by Atlanta.

Atlanta paid simple but impressive tribute Thursday to the high courage of her sons who braved the flame of battle, the day being the eighth anniversary of the signing of the world war armistice.

Though no elaborate ceremonies marked the event there was a heartfelt earnestness in the way the city paused in the midst of its labors and harkened back the year when the flower of young manhood struggled on bloody French fields with shrapnel whining a dirge overhead and with gas and machine guns dealing death on all sides.

Crimson poppies recalling those of Flanders, shone in the laps of thousands of Atlantans' coats. They were purchased to aid those who returned maimed or disabled.

A short parade through the downtown section of the city halted at Five Points and officials of the executive committee of the Argonne post, American Legion, presented the city a large American flag. Mayor Walter A. Sims accepted the flag.

Zero hour occurred in Atlanta at 11 o'clock in the morning and every

Frank Deans Wins Point In Will Fight
University of Michigan Graduate Upheld in Part of Contentions by Court.

The climax of the first issue in the legal contest of more than two years' standing over the will of the late Robert E. Deans, wealthy Atlanta broker, which involved the legal heirship of Frank Deans, 20-year-old University of Michigan graduate, was reached Thursday morning in Fulton superior court.

Judge W. D. Ellis signed a petition for withdrawal of an appeal to the superior court from the order of Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary, vacating the judgment of the lower court and setting aside the judgment of probate previously rendered. This was done at the instigation of Reuben R. and Lowry Arnold and Clarence Calhoun, attorneys for the defendants.

Hearing on the appeal had been set for next Monday morning, November 15, but since the withdrawal has been made the next legal step in the contest will be the refiling of the will for probate at which time Young Deans will make his claims to the estate as the only legal heir.

The order of the ordinary was signed following hearing on a suit to set aside the probate of the Deans' will.

MRS. VINSON'S PLEA FOR PAROLE DENIED
Prison Commission Declines Petition of Slayer of Husband, Now Serving Life Term.

The state prison commission Friday denied the petition for a parole filed by Mrs. Cora Lou Vinson, now serving a life sentence for killing her husband, Dr. William Vinson, about four years ago.

A premature announcement that this action had been taken was made several days ago, but final action was not taken in the case until Thursday.

The parole was opposed by Solicitor General John A. Boykin, of Fulton county.

Mrs. Vinson was found guilty of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to be executed. The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by the governor.

DEFENSE RESTS WITH TESTIMONY OF PSYCHIATRIST
Dr. Jelliffe Tells Court Banker Is Insane Victim of Arteriosclerosis Dementia.

MANLEY SANE, EMPLOYEE SAYS

Armstrong Says Head of Defunct Bankers' Trust Directed All Affairs of Concern.

Following testimony of Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe, noted psychiatrist of New York, that W. D. Manley, indicted president of the defunct Bankers' Trust company, is insane—suffering from arteriosclerosis dementia—and the statements of two other mental specialists that Manley is insane, the defense rested Wednesday afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock and the state began introduction of testimony in an effort to prove that the financier is feigning insanity to escape trial.

Immediately after defense counsel announced that its last witness had been called, the state summoned Jack Armstrong to the stand. Armstrong—a young man—testified that he had been in the employ of Manley for more than six years and that at no time had his employer ever evidenced signs of insanity. He was working in the office of the Bankers' Trust company at the time of the crash of Manley's interests, he said, and up until the date of his departure, Manley's conduct had never been "unusual or queer."

The witness testified that Manley directed all the affairs of the office; that he "worked hard and that he saw to it that all those who were in the office worked hard."

No Hint of Queerness.
"Did you ever see him do anything or say anything that would indicate that he was a crazy man?" asked Reuben R. Arnold, special counsel in the prosecution.

"No, sir, I did not," Armstrong answered.

Armstrong then testified that Manley appeared normal in the office and that he conducted his business regularly. In answer to a question as to whether Manley was not "the best man in his line of business he had ever known," the witness replied that Manley was a "very good man" in the same business. He expressed the opinion that Manley was an "astute" business man.

Cross-examined at 8 o'clock Thursday night, to reconvene again this morning at 9 o'clock Judge G. H. Howard, before whom the special insanity plea is being heard, stated that he would hold night sessions if it was necessary to speed up the hearing. The special insanity plea was filed by Manley's counsel after he had been called into Fulton superior court to answer an indictment charging fraudulent failure of the Farmers and Merchants' bank.

R. E. Lewis, cashier of the Farmers and Lewis' bank for the past year, was the second and last witness.

G. F. von HERMANN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

MANLEY INSANITY PLEA UNDER FIRE

called by the state Thursday before court recessed. He testified that in so far as he knew, Manley was sane, and that his actions had never led him to believe the banker was suffering from mental disease.

Mrs. Manley, who resumed the stand when court convened Thursday morning, was forced to undergo hours of relentless cross-examination by Solicitor Boykin, who attempted to prove that the banker's wife for years was associated with her husband in business and stock trading ventures, involving sums ranging from a few hundred to $800,000.

Manley, sitting with his son, Randolph, who is always with him, and Mrs. J. M. McCollough, Jr., and Doughty, his daughters, appeared to take no interest in the proceedings whatever, staring blankly at the wall or the floor. He arose occasionally and retired to Judge Howard's chambers. J. M. McCollough, Jr., and Mrs. Manley sat at defense counsel's table, and consulted often with Paul S. Etheridge and Marian Smith, defense attorneys, who were seated next to them.

Jelliffe Star Witness.
Dr. Jelliffe was the star witness of the day. He stated positively that Manley was insane, declaring that the banker could no more feign the symptoms of mental disease than he could the symptoms of measles or pneumonia. He told of a recent examination of Manley in New York, when he found arteriosclerosis was present in an advanced form.

The first examination he made of Manley was in 1914, he said, when the banker was brought to New York by Dr. Howard Bucknell, of Atlanta. He found him suffering "with arteriosclerosis at this time, he said, and made a diagnosis to this effect.

During the last examination—October of this year—Dr. Jelliffe said Manley told him many strange things, which, together with physical symptoms, convinced him immediately that the banker was insane. Manley told him that he had $100,000 in his pocket, the psychiatrist said, as an instance. When he asked him to let him see it, Manley informed him that it was in another pocket.

Dr. Jelliffe advised Manley to drop his business worries and go away for a long rest, he testified. The banker's tendency to go into anything he attempted with "tremendous vigor—terrible drive" served to increase the intensity of the disease which he said was affecting his brain.

Can't Feign Symptoms.
"Can you feign such symptoms as you found prevalent in Manley's case?" asked Ben Conyers, leading counsel for Manley.

"That's a silly question, Mr. Counsel," replied the witness.

"You can't feign these symptoms any more than you can measles or pneumonia—any more than you could make the moon."

"You examined him in last October?"

"Yes."

"In what condition did you find him?"

"In the last quarter of the disease."

"Mr. Manley is of unsound mind, in your opinion, doctor?"

"He is."

"He is afflicted with insanity?"

"He is."

"Does Mr. Manley appreciate the position he is in?"

"He does not. He doesn't understand what is going on at all. He is not able to carry on the operation of his business; in fact, sometimes Mr. Manley doesn't even know what day of the week it is without looking at the paper."

Expert Cross-Examined.
On cross-examination of Dr. Jelliffe, Reuben Arnold sought to prove that the symptoms described by the doctor did not necessarily indicate that the banker was insane. Both attorney and witness waxed facetious during the examination, and it was necessary to use the gavel with great force to maintain order.

"How long has he been in apportion?" asked Mr. Arnold.

"It is of comparatively recent origin."

"Can he talk now?"

"Yes."

"Talk about anything?"

"Some things."

"Can he read?"

"He can."

"Write?"

"He can."

"How long has he been in apportion?"

"He hasn't been normal since 1922."

Mr. Arnold then asked Dr. Jelliffe to tell of Mr. Manley's symptoms, and how he went about diagnosing them.

Dr. Jelliffe went through a series of exercises, moving joints, protruding the lips, etc.

"Did you ask him to wag his ears?"

"Why, no."

"Well, you know, doctor, some men do wag their ears."

"Some men make a living at it."

"You spoke of his mouth watering—of his tongue on one side—do you consider this evidence that a man is insane?"

"One button doesn't make an overcoat—your tongue doesn't make a Bethesda sonata."

"Not Vegetables."
In discussing the vegetative nervous system, as referred to by Dr. Jelliffe, Mr. Arnold casually let the word "vegetable" creep into his query.

"I was speaking of the vegetative system—not of vegetables," replied the doctor.

"Don't get excited, doctor."

"I'm not."

"I wasn't trying to throw off on your testimony—it is very valuable testimony."

Dr. Jelliffe then went into further detail of the symptoms which he said "highly result in insanity. He took them one by one, explaining each to Mr. Arnold.

"What did you say about the symptoms of the stomach, asked the attorney.

"I didn't say anything about the stomach," answered the doctor.

"Well, you know, Dr. Jelliffe, we laymen refer to this whole region," said Mr. Arnold, "indicating 'this region' by rubbing the area covered by his vest."

"Impossible To Feign."
"Some laymen do," replied the doctor, with emphasis on the "some."

"Were't you witnesses in the Leopold and Loeb case?"

"About a dozen."

"Who is Dr. William A. White?"

"A physician in Washington."

"Were't you witnesses in the Leopold and Loeb case?"

"No, sir—Dr. White testified, but I had nothing to do with it at all."

Dr. Jelliffe then replied to a question, declared that no definite arrangement had been made between himself and counsel regarding his fee in the case.

The psychiatrist said that would be impossible to "manufacture." Even if he knew what the symptoms were, he could not possibly feign them to the extent of deceiving anyone acquainted with symptoms of insanity.

Dr. Allen on Stand.
Dr. H. D. Allen, Sr., was called to the stand. He testified that he operates the Allen Invalid home at Milledgeville and that for some time Manley had been under his observation. He said he believed Manley was insane.

"How positive are you—have you any doubt about his insanity?"

"Not the slightest doubt."

Reuben Arnold took Dr. Allen on cross-examination.

"What form of mental disease is Mr. Manley suffering from?"

"I wouldn't like to classify."

"When a man has arteriosclerosis does it mean that he is beginning to go crazy?"

"How many men—what percentage of those who have it go crazy—say, before the age of 52? How many out of a thousand?"

"About ten."

"What kind of insanity, doctor, is Mr. Manley suffering from—is it mental, arteriosclerosis, optional or what?"

"I would say it is confusional insanity."

"Can he talk?"

"Yes, about anything."

"Can he talk sensibly?"

"Yes."

"Does he read all the papers?"

"Yes."

"Has he got a tremendous appetite?"

"Yes."

"Fairly good."

"Could he write a sensible letter?"

"He could at times."

Plays Cards.
"What does he do while at your invalid's home in Milledgeville?"

"Well, he watches them play tennis, goes for rides."

"Yes, he plays cards?"

"Did he ever go out in his shirttail while at your place, doctor?"

"No—not out of the house—he may have gone around the building, however."

"He sleeps, eats, plays poker and does everything else he wants that a normal man could do—what is the matter with him, then, doctor?"

"He's insane."

"Then there's nothing the matter with him except he's insane?"

"When he's playing poker, riding in an automobile or eating—does he look as bad as he does in court now?"

"No."

"How much is Manley's counsel paying you?"

"Fifty dollars a day."

"How much are they paying your son?" (H. D. Allen, Jr.)

"The same thing."

Dr. Allen, Jr., was called next.

"When did you first become acquainted with the defendant, Mr. Manley?" asked Mr. Conyers.

"August 7, of this year."

"Have you seen him any since then?"

"With Him Constantly."

"I have been with him constantly, except on those occasions when he was brought up court."

"Is he afflicted with insanity?"

"He is."

"Can he assist in the preparation of a defense against any charges against him?"

"He can not."

Dr. Allen then recounted instances where Manley had talked of seeing "imaginary things—having imaginary interviews." He heard footsteps in his room, and on one occasion declared that he saw the office he entered his room and tried to find whisky in a thermos bottle.

Mr. Arnold took the witness for cross-examination.

"A man could say any fool thing and would that necessarily be a sign of insanity—if he had any motive for doing a thing?"

"He could."

"Mr. Manley had a little motive didn't he—with 19 indictments against him?"

Dr. Allen expressed the view that insanity, and nothing else, caused Manley to talk and act queerly, stating that he was positive that the banker was insane.

"Mr. Manley never landed at your place until his banks failed, and then he landed there talking in a rambling way—is there anyone else there under an indictment?" he asked.

"No."

"Is there anybody else there who talks bad?"

"Yes."

"There never was a man who feigned insanity who didn't say somebody was following him?"

"Mr. Manley didn't say that—he talked of killing someone."

"Does he play cards?"

"Yes."

"He dresses himself?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do his lawyers ever talk to him?"

"Yes."

"Talk to him privately?"

"Yes."

"Did Judge Potwell and Mr. Conyers talk to him?"

"Yes."

Wife On Stand.
Mrs. Manley again resumed the stand Thursday morning at 9:12 o'clock, and for more than one and a half hours underwent cross-fire questions at Mrs. Manley in regard to the cross-examination, asking Mrs. Manley how long her husband was connected with the Witham chain of banks and when he became connected with the organization.

Mrs. Manley, who appeared composed, answered that he became associated with the Witham chain shortly after their marriage, 20 years ago. Mr. Witham retired in 1916, and Manley was made president of the organization immediately following, she added.

"How many banks were there in the Witham chain?" Solicitor Boykin asked.

"I do not know," Mrs. Manley said.

The solicitor then named list of the corporations in which the defendant banker is said to have had an interest, among them being the Farmers Loan corporation, Bankers' Guarantee corporation, Morningside Park, Inc., Sylvan Hills, Vaughn Investment company, Harding Heights, Realty Sales company, Avalon company, Bankers' Finance company, Phoenix Building corporation, Bankers' Security company, United Realty company, J. R. Smith company, Smith-Lacey company, Georgia Farm Loan company, Stonewall Investment company and the Georgia Realty company.

Ignorant of Connections.
Mrs. Manley said she did not know whether her husband was interested in any of the corporations except Morningside.

The state attempted to prove on cross-examination that W. D. Manley & Company was organized for the purpose of hiding assets of the defendant. Boykin fired a deluge of questions at Mrs. Manley in regard to the transactions, which were answered by the witness cautiously.

"Are you familiar with the organization of W. D. Manley & Company seven days before the failure of the Bankers' Trust company," the solicitor asked.

"I am familiar with some of the details of the organization, but I don't know how many days before the failure the Manley company was organized," Mrs. Manley replied.

"Don't you know that $700,000 in assets were transferred from Mr.

Manley's other enterprises to the W. D. Manley company?"

"I do not recall the amount."

Present at Meeting.
"Were you present at the meeting in your home, which was attended by Mr. Manley, Attorney Herbert Haas and Miss Lena Long, at which the transfer was made?"

"I was present."

"Did you not second a motion to increase the capital stock of the company from $100,000 to $750,000?"

"It would be necessary for me to examine the minutes of the meeting before I can answer that question."

"Did you not second a motion made by Mr. Manley to issue 6,500 shares of stock at $100 a share," the solicitor asked.

Mrs. Manley also declined to answer the question, stating that she did not remember.

Unacquainted With Motive.
The witness declared that Manley paid the Bankers' Trust company $1,000 for the charter of the W. D. Manley company. In answer to another question of the solicitor, Mrs. Manley declared that she did not know the reason for the organization of the company.

The solicitor then asked: "Do you think your husband is insane at the present time?"

Mrs. Manley replied: "I know it."

At this point the state made a desperate effort to secure an admission from Mrs. Manley that 30 days prior to the failure of the Bankers' Trust company Manley changed various insurance policies to his wife as beneficiary instead of his estate. Mrs. Manley declared that if he had done so she had no knowledge of it and always had been under the impression that he was the beneficiary.

Heavy Speculation Hinted.
The banker's wife testified that Manley owned a Rolls-Royce automobile but that other expensive cars referred to in the solicitor's questions were owned by her and members of the family. She also brought out the fact that Manley speculated in the cotton exchange and frequently used her money in his operations.

"Do you know that Manley lost $200,000 in one deal on the market?" Solicitor Boykin queried.

"I know of no such thing."

"Are you going to pay your share of the losses?"

"I know nothing about it."

"Are you not claiming half of your husband's profits from stock manipulations?"

"I am claiming half because he used my money."

"Then, why are you not going to pay half of the losses?"

"I know nothing of any losses."

State's Contention.
Solicitor Boykin told the court that the state intended to show that Mrs. Manley did not consider him insane at the time she allowed him to control her investments, and to prove that she had made the statement that Manley this year has earned $800,000 in stock speculation.

"Do you not claim that," the solicitor asked, "a large interest in a $15,000 note held by the Bank of Woodbury?"

Mrs. Manley appealed to the court to instruct her as to whether she was required to answer questions regarding "instructions she had given attorneys."

Mrs. Manley said that she did not recall the Woodbury transaction.

The state then launched a barrage of questions regarding previous statements made by Mrs. Manley in the bankruptcy hearing with regard to the purchase of the Manley estate on Pace's Ferry road, which Mrs. Manley now claims is her property. She testified that the initial payment on the place was made with $20,000 secured by a mortgage on the property at 65 East Fourteenth street and that she personally signed notes for annual payments of $10,000 each.

Admits Manley Made Payment.
After grueling cross-fire questions, Mrs. Manley finally admitted that Manley made the initial payments on the Fourteenth street property, but that he had made the payment for her. She also admitted that she stated in previous testimony that Manley had made many reinvestments for her and that he "had always made money."

"I thought at the time that all of his investments were wise," she said, "but I have since found that I was mistaken with regard to the wisdom of numerous investments."

The line of questioning at this point again shifted to brokerage accounts and the witness admitted seeing several checks for $100,000 each but denied that she saw a single check for $800,000 and said her only information as to net profits was Mr. Manley's statement to her that earnings aggregated $800,000.

Funds Withdrawn.
Since the crash of the banks, Mrs. Manley stated that $25,000 had been withdrawn from the Livingston and company brokerage account and that

Faith Has Nothing To Fear From Science, Harmon Tells Disciples of Christ Meeting

Finest Religion Based on Most Perfect Knowledge, Speaker Says at Convention.

Memphis, Tenn., November 11.—(AP) Faith, which hesitated to walk with science, "puts God on the defensive in the presence of His own handiwork," Dr. A. D. Harmon, president of the international convention of Disciples of Christ, asserted tonight before the huge congregation of that body which began a seven-day session here today.

"There is nothing to fear from science but the fear of science," the president declared in delivering the annual address to 6,000 or more leaders in Christian churches gathered from every part of the United States and from foreign lands.

"The finest faith rests on the top end of most perfect knowledge," the convention leader said. "God has always shown preference to the man who knows. He has never chosen an ignoramus as spokesman of His major prophecies nor made an ignorant people the repository of His holy oracles."

If the church is inhospitable to the scientific spirit, Dr. Harmon believed, the church will lose the youth of the land "and ostracize herself."

Dissenters Threaten Fight. The convention launched its sessions in the afternoon when reports from the denomination's missionary society and board of education showing progress in these activities had been submitted and an Armistice day address by Francis J. Garrett, of Tennessee, minority leader in the lower house of congress, had been heard.

A special meeting earlier in the day, sponsored by a group of several hundred dissenters from certain policies of the mission board, denounced "modernism" and promised to precipitate a fight on the floor of the convention when the report of the commission to the orient will be submitted.

Mr. Garrett, pointing to governmental troubles in European countries, and "bickerings and dissensions" in this country, made a plea for a revival of the high moral spirit which prevailed when American soldiers were fighting in France. He urged the propriety of acceptance by the United States of a responsibility in the direction of world affairs.

Another general European war would drag this country again into military strife, he believed. The scientific spirit is a distinct feature of the age, Dr. Harmon, who is president of Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky., said in his address at tonight's assembly. He called this spirit "the insistent disposition to know facts."

HAYES IS DENIED RIGHT TO PRACTICE LAW IN TAX CASES

Washington, November 11.—(AP) George B. Hayes, of New York, government witness in the case of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, has been denied permission to practice law in income tax appeals before the treasury on the ground that he failed to file income tax returns for the years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920 and that he evaded the payment of $233,527 in income taxes.

The action was taken on orders of Secretary Mellon.

Wheeler was acquitted on the charges against him involving accusations that he appeared illegally before a government department after election as senator.

FOOTBALL PLAYING IN CITY STREETS BANNED BY CHIEF

Following a complaint from Mrs. J. T. DeJarnette, of 36 Albion avenue, who was cut about the face by flying glass when the windshield of her automobile was broken by a football on Forrest avenue Wednesday, Chief of Police James L. Beavers issued strict orders Thursday morning to all members of the force to break up football playing in the streets by children.

There are plenty of places for youngsters to play football, and all other outdoor sports must be played other than in the streets," Mr. Beavers said Thursday. Officers have been detailed to locate the boys who kicked the football through the windshield of Mr. DeJarnette's car.

Mr. and Mrs. DeJarnette were riding down Forrest avenue Wednesday morning when the football crashed through the windshield of their car.

CHARGES OF FRAUD AT POLLS DENIED

J. E. Bowden, nominee-elect as councilman from the fifth ward, Thursday issued a statement in which he defended clerks and managers of the fifth ward polls on charges of irregularities.

A contest of the primary was filed by Councilman Tom C. Morris, who was defeated by a small vote on the face of returns. Mr. Morris charged fraud and an attempt to "steal" the nomination from him, and has been mentioned as an independent candidate in the election slated for December 1.

Mr. Morris also has filed suit to recover $1,100 which he claims he bet on his election, claiming that fraud in the election voided the wages. Mr. Bowden declared Thursday night that he and Mr. Morris selected the clerks and managers and that he won the nomination fairly. He also declares the grand jury by actual count found he was winner by 12 votes.

R. E. BELL DIES AT DAWSON HOME

Dawson, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Redick Edwin Bell, 52, city councilman, former city clerk, prominent insurance man and successful farmer, died at his home here this morning after suffering since Monday night with a bronchial attack.

Mr. Bell was the father of Hunter Bell, city editor of The Atlanta Journal.

Although in recent years he had devoted his time largely to his insurance and real estate interests, Mr. Bell, a native of Terrell county, had been associated with many projects in the city for a number of years, and was serving a term as councilman at the time of his death.

One of his chief interests was in the Dawson Methodist church, which he served both as a steward and trustee, following in the steps of his father, the late Homer Seaborn Bell, who was one of the builders of the present church.

Mr. Bell was one of the pioneer insurance men of this section, representing a number of important companies, both fire and life. He also was engaged in the real estate and farm loan business. He had large farming interests which was his chief hobby and to which he devoted a great deal of his time.

Mr. Bell is survived by his widow, who was Miss Eugenia Pace; his son, Hunter; two brothers, Ernest Pell, of Charlotte, N. C., and Charles A. Bell, of Washington, and three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Hicks of Dawson, Miss Julia Bell and Miss Maud A. Bell, of Washington. Another sister, Mrs. J. G. Patterson, wife of Dr. Patterson, died several years ago.

Mr. Bell had been married 27 years, he and Mrs. Bell having celebrated their silver wedding anniversary nearly two years ago. No funeral arrangements have been made due to the fact that several brothers and sisters live in distant parts.

Interment will be in the Dawson cemetery, it is stated.

DOZIER DENIES HE RECEIVED FEE FOR BANK WORK

James H. Dozier, state tax commissioner denied Thursday he had ever received any fee, directly or indirectly, for serving as liquidating agent of a number of banks which failed in Georgia recently. He said he made this denial in reply to charges by John N. Hilder, candidate for governor in the recent campaign, to the effect that Dozier had received "fat fees" for serving as liquidating agent.

Mr. Dozier said he had handled the liquidation of several banks on a nominal salary basis but since he had been appointed state tax commissioner "he had not collected any fees of any kind for this service."

Last Services Held For Train-Car Crash Victim Late Thursday

Funeral services for Martha Parker, daughter of R. L. Parker, who was fatally injured in an automobile-train crash Tuesday in College Park, were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Mercer Avenue Baptist church. The Rev. M. J. Collins and Rev. L. N. Brown officiated. Interment was in College Park cemetery.

Mr. Parker, who was driving the car at the time of the accident, was also injured, but his injuries were not serious.

The child is survived by her parents, one sister, Miss Ruby Parker; two brothers, Lemuel and Charles Parker, all of College Park, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parker, of Miami, Fla., and Mrs. M. J. Parker, of East Point. A. C. Hemperley in charge.

Headquarters Sought By Macon for Probation Officer To Be Appointed

Macon, Ga., November 11.—(AP)—Macon is being aided by Federal Judge W. J. Tilson, of the middle Georgia district, in its effort to have the headquarters of the federal probation officer for Georgia located here. This officer will be named shortly on recommendations of Federal Judges Tilson, Samuel L. Sibley and William H. Barrett, of Georgia.

Congress has appropriated $50,000 for the maintenance of such an officer, who will keep in constant touch with persons giving a probation sentence by federal judges of the state.

Atlanta and Savannah are also said to be after the headquarters of this officer.

EXPLOSIVES USED ON DALTON SAFES

Dalton, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Dalton was visited last night by a professional safe cracker, who with the use of explosives, succeeded in gaining entrance to the safes of the Dalton Ice company and of John Puryear, from which a considerable sum of money was obtained. The places of business are quite a distance apart, but it is thought that the same men did both jobs.

ADJUSTED SERVICE CERTIFICATE LOAN VALUE IS BIG SUM

Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, U. S. Veterans' bureau, has announced that there are approximately 2,853,000 adjusted service certificates with a face value of $2,975,000,000, which will be available in 1927 for deposit as collateral security for loans.

The total loan value which will become available during the year 1927 is approximately $262,540,000. The average amount that may be obtained by veterans serving 1927 on security of certificates in force two years or more is approximately $12.2 cents for each one-dollar of face value of the certificate.

Loans may be made to veterans by any bank or trust company, incorporated under the laws of any state, territory, or possession or the District of Columbia, but loans cannot be made to veterans by the U. S. Veterans' bureau. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that applications for loans be presented to bank or trust company and not to the bureau or any of its agencies.

"Sincerely hopes veterans will not exercise the loan privilege to any appreciable extent since it will be much more advantageous to the veteran or his beneficiary to hold his certificate unencumbered to the date of its maturity," the statement read.

METHODISTS HEAR EDUCATION PLANS

A report of the Christian education movement in the North Georgia conference, submitted by Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, secretary-treasurer, to the conference now in session here, shows that Methodists have subscribed $741,000 upon an accepted quota of $1,785,000.

Dr. Dempsey's report covered all phases of the work and dealt at length with the Christian education movement in the North Georgia conference, the boll weevil, bank failures and similar matters which he said retarded subscriptions in many instances.

An extract from the report of Dr. Dempsey, covering in a concise manner the general report, follows: "Our conference subscribed upon an accepted quota of $1,785,000; $741,000 in 1921, this being the total of 17,881 pledges. During the period from the beginning through November 10, 1926, our conference has paid a grand total of $289,723.85. Of this $21,502.36 has been collected during the present year.

This exhibit needs to be supplemented by several statements: First, during the entire period from 1921-26, Georgia has suffered unusual financial depression on account of boll weevil, Texas flea, drouth, bank failures and similar adversities. Second, other interests have also been zealously pressing upon the attention of our people, thus dividing their interest and reducing the support which they can give to any one interest. Third, 5,000 of our subscribers, approximately one-third, made deferred subscriptions, placing their first payment at November 1, 1924, which resulted in their further financial inability on account of the adversities succeeding one another as above described. Fourth, in a diligent examination of the conditions in my office, I found that 10,843 pledge cards had not been made payment recorded upon them, which reveals that the money collected has come from 6,738 subscribers only.

"Summarizing the above, with even the discouraging total of non-subscribers, it must be said of our people that in view of conditions through which they have passed, this is a commendable record. Furthermore, the removal of pledge cards by three of our colleges on July 1 will be recognized as another contributing cause to a less satisfactory payment record for this conference year. This is not to question the wisdom of the removal of the cards, for this step was justified by other advantages than mere collection of pledges which came to the colleges through this transaction.

"Our two mountain schools, Young Harris and Reinhardt left pledge cards in the care of the office so that collections have proceeded upon them as heretofore under the plan of the Christian education movement."

School Chiefs May Ask Special Tax In Georgia

Proposals that special taxes be levied in Georgia on soft drinks, bottled drinks and beverages, patent medicines and kerosene oil to increase funds for educational purposes in the state are contained in a resolution which will be presented at a meeting of city and county school superintendents to be held today at the Henry Grady hotel. The resolution was prepared and is sponsored by John Bostwick, superintendent of education of Morgan county, who estimates that revenue derived from these taxes will amount to approximately $5,000,000 a year and will solve the financial problems of both common schools and higher educational institutions.

This resolution will be introduced at the Friday session of the educators and will be one of the most interesting features of the session. One of the principal speakers today will be Dr. B. L. Parkinson, of the University of South Carolina. Other speakers who will appear on the program are Knox Walker, superintendent of education of Carroll county, and Superintendents C. W. Reid, Monroe; H. B. Carreker, Dublin; J. E. Purks, Cedar town; Superintendent Miller, Waycross, and Professor Leon P. Smith, of Wesleyan college. Under the terms of the resolution to be introduced by Superintendent Bostwick, a tax of 4 cents a gallon would be levied on kerosene oil; a tax of 10 per cent on all patent medicines through the medium of stamps; a stamp tax on bottled soft drinks and beverages of 10 per cent, and a tax of 20 per cent on soft drinks sold at soda fountains, soft drink stands and other places. Funds derived through this taxation would be turned into the state treasury to a special educational fund, 87 1/2 per cent of which would be paid to school superintendents to supplement the present state appropriation and 12 1/2 per cent to be distributed among state-supported colleges in the proportion each institution now is receiving funds.

Superintendent Bostwick also will recommend that the United States government appropriate $50,000,000 annually for support of common schools of the nation. Georgia's share of such a fund would amount to approximately $1,250,000, according to Superintendent Bostwick.

WONDERFUL DOLL COLLECTION SHOWN BY KEELY COMPANY

Eyes of Atlanta children grow wide with delight and screams of pleasure are evoked when they enter the store of the Keely company, where a regular "doll paradise" is now on display. The collection of dolls which is now being shown to inaugurate the holiday season is one of the most varied and pleasing assortments ever displayed in any store in the south. Big dolls, little dolls, crying dolls, laughing dolls, "Mamma" dolls, boy and girl dolls, baby dolls and old men and old women dolls, dolls in pants and shirts and dolls in dainty lace, dolls of every kind, every shape and every size are seen in the Keely display.

One of the prettiest features of the Keely doll exhibit is the big center show window of the store which was prepared under the direction of L. E. Stansbury, display manager for the company. In this window is shown "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" and the Mother Goose rhyme about her having so many children she did not know what to do is carried out with fine effect.

The "Old Woman's" children are seen scrambling all around her, some in running positions, some jumping, some climbing trees, some bearing bundles, some playing leap frog and other sports. The "Old Woman" herself stands near the entrance to the "Shoe Home" with birch rod ready to punish errant children, but also free to give them their supper and rush them off to bed. The idea is a clever one and has been carried out under Mr. Stansbury's direction with wonderful effect.

One of the largest dolls in the display is a product of the Horseman company and is as large as a good-sized school girl. It is a double-jointed doll and is dressed in regular sized girl's clothing.

The "Baby doll" display is also one of the attractive features of the exhibit at the Keely company. All kinds of clothes and supplies are shown.

The doll exhibit is attracting wide attention, not only among the children but among men and women who visit the Keely store.

THE PROBLEM:

What is the sum total of the figures forming the elephant? Simply add them up to get the solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of The Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, east and middle Tennessee, may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution, members of their families, and those who have won first and second awards in similar contest conducted by The Constitution.
2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the four amounts designated in the award list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered a solution cannot be changed.
3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these awards for individual effort, while it is proper for members of one household to work together, or several friends, it is not permissible for one of those working in union to send in a solution of the puzzle. Only one award will be sent to any one person, household, or group of persons working together. When in the judgment of the contest manager, or the Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons, who it is believed have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to deduct the amount of money paid in subscriptions and return the solution if it has been submitted contrary to the rules.
4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide all questions arising here and there covered by the published rules, and those entering the contest agree to abide by its decisions and accept them final and conclusive.
5. Solutions must be mailed or delivered to the Atlanta Constitution office on or before 9 o'clock Saturday, November 27, 1926. Solutions sent by mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted. If rules governing same are complied with, this contest stands from Sunday, October 27, 1926, to Saturday, November 27, 1926. Five days will be given for the solution of the puzzle. Those who have not fully qualified for the larger award to do so, after which no further qualifying remittance will be accepted.
6. In case of ties, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any awards are awarded for less correct solutions another puzzle will be submitted to those tied. Thus, if two or more people should tie on the first solution, the first two or more awards will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. If ties still result, as many as five tie-breaking puzzles will be used, after which should ties still result, each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.
7. This contest is open to both new and subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months for the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions not accepted in this contest. All amounts of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent no commission can be deducted. In column five of prize list six months new subscriptions referred to means someone who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, directly or indirectly, and has not within the past sixty days, and such new six months subscriptions must be confined to Georgia or adjoining states.
8. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring directly to The Constitution the three, six or twelve months payment with the solution. Whatever is paid in this manner, must be paid in full, as the remittance sent us will be deducted from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment. If all arrears are not paid the solution will not be considered valid. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the amount of time paid for from the present paid date of expiration.

Deciding Ties—If Any

Actual Size, 11x7 Inches.

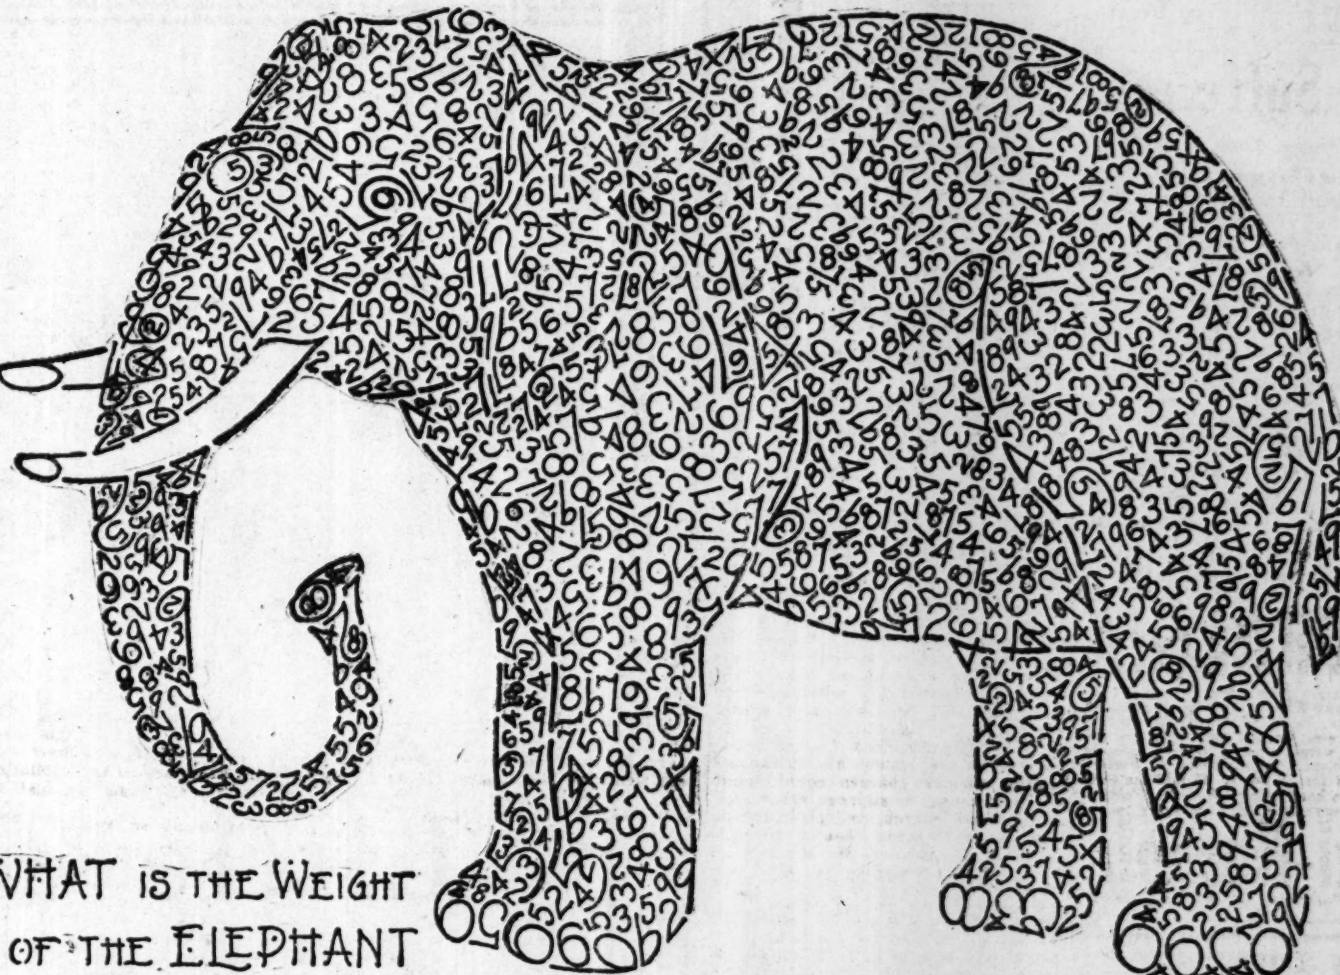

In case of ties those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, so that the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary this chart will be used five times, after which, should any tie result, a new contest will receive full value as any other tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting the Elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the first nine awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the award list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

ATLANTA HONORS
MEMORY OF DEAD

one and all business stopped for one minute as a tribute to the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Armistice day was the occasion for honoring veterans of two wars in impressive ceremonies held at the state capitol under auspices of the Atlanta Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. Twenty overseas veterans and thirteen men who did not get abroad were given crosses of honor.

The senate chamber of the state capitol was beautifully decorated for the event and added color was given by the appearance of world war veterans in khaki. Confederate veterans in gray and members of the Old Guard, of Atlanta, in their picturesque uniforms.

Judge W. Frank Jenkins, of the state court of appeals, delivered the principal address. He spoke of the record made in the world war and in the war between the states by Georgia men and referred to the loyalty and service rendered by women during these wars.

Several hundred persons crowded into the senate chamber to witness the affair. The presentation was made by Mrs. Forrest Kibler, while the speech of acceptance on behalf of veterans was made by Dr. E. C. Davis.

Tribute to the bravery of soldiers of the Confederacy was paid by Mrs. Oscar McKenna, state president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, while General Joseph Leitch, commanding officer at Fort McPherson, praised the record of the American troops in the world war.

Organizations participating in the program were the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Overseas Girls Club, Argonne Post, American Legion, the War Mothers, and the Joseph Habersham Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. Music for the ceremony was furnished by the Georgia Tech band.

Those who received crosses of honor and who are lineal descendants of Confederate veterans follow: E. C. Davis, Forrest M. Barfield, Courtland S. Winn, Jr., Marcus W. Beck, Jr., (deceased), Sterling A. Cox, Andrew O. Derrick, H. R. Donaldson, T. P. Goodwyn, Howard Harris, and W. W. Hunter, Samuel Y. Jamison, Cecil

Dr. Cox, in a speech introducing Dr. Fred Barnett, associate general secretary, said the time is ripe to put the laymen to work, and assured the conference that the laymen would follow as pastors might lead. Dr. Barnett asked that laymen would undertake the great tasks before them, and endeavor to remove the stigma of uncollected obligations for benevolences, removing the deficit of 40 per cent.

Bishop Speaks.

Bishop Beauchamp, who is president of the World Brotherhood of Laymen, spoke, and stated that this movement among the laymen in this conference is one of the most strategic and important matters conceivable. He asserted the great deficit of today to be appalling, and believed this movement among laymen would prove a far step towards guaranteeing success. The movement will be extended until an organization is perfected in every congregation in the entire conference.

Some of the outstanding laymen of Georgia are members of the laymen's board in this conference. New appointments on that board are as follows: N. G. Slaughter, J. M. Pound, S. B. Sledge, Dr. J. D. Mager, W. J. Bennett, W. J. Lee, Judge John D. Humphries, Judge J. D. Hutcherson, Judge W. B. Hollingsworth, W. T. Price, C. W. Coleman, W. T. Ellington, J. R. Whitaker, H. J. Smith, R. S. Wheeler, G. M. McClure, C. E. Adams, J. I. Allman, F. E. Gabels, Dr. W. G. Coleman, J. B. Mendenhall, Judge J. A. Darby, J. B. Peters, E. R. Cook, P. T. McCutcheon, S. L. Johnson, J. J. Daniel, A. W. McClure, P. P. Lester, W. J. Duke, S. D. Stenbridge, S. C. Connolly, J. M. Graham, E. R. Morgan.

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory university, was re-elected conference lay leader for the coming year.

Thursday Features.

Special features of the Thursday session of the North Georgia Methodist conference, in annual convention this week at Wesley Memorial church, were the admission on trial of a class of 13 young ministers and superannuation of six men who have been in the service of the church for a total of 260 years.

Fifteen minutes was devoted to discussing whether or not admittance should be granted an applicant who had not given definite and final pledge that he would abstain from all use of tobacco.

A special program was observed in commemoration of Armistice day, the chief address being delivered by Dr. Plato Durham, of Emory university.

When the question was called, "Who are superannuated?" the names of Rev. J. M. Tumlin, Dr. Fletcher Walton, Rev. W. T. Hamby, Rev. W. H. Soper, Rev. G. W. Tumlin and Dr. W. H. LaPrade, Sr., were submitted for reference to the committee on conference relations for that relation.

Ministers on Trial.

Young ministers admitted on trial for one year were E. J. Grimes, B. M. Montgomery, J. B. E. Barton and R. W. Stone, of the Louisiana district; G. B. Ramsey, from the South Atlanta district; E. D. Russell, from the Georgia district; S. H. Dixon and A. W. Williams, from the LaGrange district; F. J. Pippin and W. F. Lunsford, from the Oxford district; and B. Henderson, from the Rome district.

Announcement was made in conference circles Thursday that Dr. W. L. Duren, of Louisiana conference, had been transferred from the Louisiana conference, and will be assigned a pastorate before the session adjourns.

Dr. Duren is one of the eminent Methodist ministers in that part of the church connection, and has been in charge of some of the leading pastorates in Mississippi and Louisiana. Prior to his going to Louisiana six years ago he was a member of the Mississippi conference. Six years ago he was assigned to the Rayne Memorial Methodist church, of New Orleans, where he has enjoyed a highly successful ministry.

It is not known yet what his assignment will be in this conference, and no official announcement of it will be made till the appointments for all the preachers are read at the hour of adjournment. There is some speculation among conference members that he will be sent to St. Mark church, Atlanta, inasmuch as Dr. J. B. Mitchell, who has been in charge of that church for a number of years, is transferring to the Louisiana conference.

Methodist preachers' appointments are not final and official until publicly announced in the prescribed way.

The Louisiana conference members express regret that Dr. Duren is to leave them for other fields. Louisianans speak of him in highest terms.

Graduate of Millsaps.

Dr. Duren is said to be about 50 years of age, having a family with three children. One son is instructor of mathematics in Tulane university, and one daughter is a student in Randolph-Macon college. One other child is with the family.

Dr. Duren is a graduate of Millsaps college, of Jackson, Miss., and served several of the strong appointments in the north Mississippi conference, before transferring to Louisiana six years ago and assuming the pastorate of the Rayne Memorial church at New Orleans.

When he had completed four years there, he planned to move; but his church urged him to continue with them, and agreed to build a $65,000 Sunday school building. At the end of that year they entreated him to continue another year.

Dr. Duren is said to be a widely-traveled man and highly cultured. His style of preaching is thoughtful, concise and devoted to one great central idea that he would present. He is noted as an administrator, and is declared to be an all-around man in church activities.

Armistice Day Observed.

Dr. Plato Durham, of Emory university, was orator of the day Thursday, when the conference paused to observe Armistice day exercises.

Dr. Durham urged that Americans continue to fight for a warless world, and thought the sacrifices made by American soldiers in France should constitute an inspiring contribution to that end.

In his tribute to the "valor of the American soldiers he thought them to have given the world the highest exemplification of courage and a love for something more than mere life."

Given Charter at Banquet

Claude Schneider, left, president of the state T. P. A., who officiated at the banquet Thursday night of the new Atlanta T. P. A. post. At right is L. O. Surles, local post president.

A banquet at the Henry Grady hotel Thursday night marked the beginning of a new post of the Travelers Protective association and installation by State President Claude Schneider, of Macon, of officers of the new post.

Mr. Schneider delivered the charter to the president of the local post, L. O. Surles, and the new post will be styled Post O. P., meaning, Mr. Surles said, "Optimistic-Peptomists."

The new post will function principally along civic club lines, according to officials, with a regular weekly luncheon on Fridays at a place to be designated by the post committee later, and a social meeting as well as an educational and business meeting on the first and third Friday nights.

A ladies' auxiliary will be formed next week to work with the post in social and charitable work.

Other officers are A. McD. Wilson, Jr., head of the A. McD. Wilson company, first vice president; John E. Burdine, southern district sales manager of the Toledo Sales company, second vice president; B. R. Firestone, of the Sword Tire company, third vice president; John W. Davis, of the J. K. Orr Shoe company, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors consists of C. A. Tappan, W. A. Lynn, J. L. Brown, George E. Barrett and T. H. Hicks. The chairman of the membership committee is R. H. Floyd; chairman of the reception committee, John H. Estes, Jr.; transportation, R. Johnson; entertainment, W. E. Brown; hotel, I. A. Sturgis.

Rev. Wallace Rogers was appointed chaplain, while the surgeon and attorney will be appointed by the president later. Singing of the "Dixie T. P. A. Jaidio Girl" by Miss Kathleen Watson, who was accompanied by her sister, Miss Hattie Watson, was a feature. After election of officers attendance prizes were drawn and dancing followed. Georgetown orchestra furnished the music.

Mr. Surles, president, also is state chairman of publicity and secretary of the national publicity club of the national association.

Dr. Durham, himself, served under the colors, and lost a brother in the world conflict.

He thought the debt upon us today is to atone war, to promote Christianity as supreme, and to love the world into peace with the heart of Christ.

At the conclusion of his address when the conference body was visibly stirred, a rising vote of thanks was extended him.

Bishop Beauchamp presented to Rev. Horace S. Smith, retiring president of the Dalton district, a handsome traveling bag, presented by preachers and laymen of that district. Also he gave Rev. S. A. Harris, retiring elder of the Dalton district, a silver service set, the gift of laymen and preachers of that district.

During the afternoon a preaching service was conducted, at which time Dr. John S. Jenkins, of LaGrange, delivered the sermon.

The evening session of the conference today will be devoted to the anniversary observance of the board of education. Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, of Alabama, is to be present, and deliver the address of the occasion.

then turned to support the La Follette-Wheeler presidential ticket.

When the first senate republican caucus was held after the 1924 election several of the new guard, including David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Walter Edge, of New Jersey, demanded the heads of the insurgents. Majority Leader Curtis and several of the older heads among the regulars opposed this as bad politics.

Senator Butler, the president's campaign manager and republican national committeeman, supported the Young Turks.

Insurgents Are Outed.

Their program of excommunication went through. They even went further and under Butler's leadership voted Brookhart out of his seat and put a democrat, Steck, in his place. Curtis predicted the republicans would pay for this. Brookhart went back to Iowa and lost Senator Cummins, a regular, for renomination and is now back in the senate.

For more than a year efforts have been made to restrain the die-hards. Even President Coolidge intervened mildly by inviting Frazier to the white house for breakfast with several republican leaders last spring. The republicans permitted young Bob La Follette to enter the regular organization though he did so with the warning that he would continue to stand for progressive policies.

David Reed seems somewhat less desperate on the subject. During the brief session of the senate yesterday he was seen to shake hands cordially with Senator Norris. A fortnight ago Norris was campaigning against the republican senatorial candidate in Pennsylvania, calling Reed "King David." Reed in turn was alluding to Norris as a political mongrel.

PINCHOT SCORES VOTE CORRUPTION

Philadelphia, November 11.—(P)—Declaring that the states of Pennsylvania and Illinois today "carry a blot whose blackness is far better recognized outside of Pennsylvania than in this commonwealth," Governor Pinchot in an Armistice day address said that corruption of elections ranks among the most dangerous of all attacks on free government.

"No more dangerous attack was ever made upon the self-government which our fathers won, and no greater cause calls for the backing of the men who fought the great war, than the cause of the purity of the ballot," he said, "and until a new generation can be educated to regard any tampering with the ballot as what it truly is—the most contemptible and most dangerous of all crimes—there is no fight better worth making anywhere by an American citizen than the fight for clean elections."

"In the eyes of their sister states Pennsylvania and Illinois carry today a blot whose blackness is far better recognized outside of Pennsylvania than it is in the commonwealth, and they, unfortunately, are not alone. There has been a vast increase in the purchase and theft of elections in America in the last few years."

FREE TRAIN RIDES FOR QUEEN MARIE MAY CAUSE PROBE

Omaha, Neb., November 11.—Queen Marie's free rides will come in for congressional investigation, if the demands of Representative A. C. Shallenberger, Nebraska, member of the house committee on interstate commerce, are heeded.

He announced Thursday that he would demand an investigation into the truth of reports that her majesty is traveling free on American railroads.

"If we can believe statements of Colonel John Carroll, who is in charge of the tour," Representative Shallenberger said, "Queen Marie is traveling across the United States in open violation of laws governing railroad transportation."

The law enacted during the administration of President Roosevelt, specifically provides that every except employees of railroads and their immediate families and not excepting the president of the United States, must pay when they ride on American railroads.

Georgia Is Given Copy of Famous Painting Of Colony Trustees and Yamacraw Indians

An artist's copy of one of the most famous historic paintings in existence has been given the state of Georgia by the Earl of Shaftesbury, whose ancestor, the fourth earl, was a member of the colony of Georgia from 1733 to 1752. The picture represents a meeting of the common council of the colony, composed of a part of the trustees, with Tonia Chachi Mico, chief of the Yamacraw Indians, and some of his tribesmen, held near Savannah on July 3, 1734. The picture, a magnificent work, arrived at the state capitol on Thursday, where it will be permanently hung. The original hangs in the private collection of the present Earl of Shaftesbury, who presented the copy to the state.

BY RALPH T. JONES.

A magnificent oil painting depicting the historic conference between trustees of the colony of Georgia and Yamacraw Indians, held on July 3, 1734, has been given to the state of Georgia. The magnificent gift, made by the ninth and present Earl of Shaftesbury, arrived from England Wednesday and will be hung in the state capitol today.

The picture is a full size copy of the original which hangs in the private collection at St. Giles' house, England, the ancestral home of the Earls of Shaftesbury. The original was painted in 1734-35 by William Verelst, a famous Belgian painter of the day who had settled in England. The different men in the picture sat in turn for the painting, thus making the likenesses true. The copy, made this year especially as a gift to Georgia, is by Edmund Dyer, a famous painter of London.

The picture shows the meeting of trustees, twenty-four in number, with Tonia Chachi Mico, chief, and his Yamacraw Indians, held at Yamacraw, or Savannah, July 3, 1734. At this meeting a treaty was made with Indians whereby the new colony was enabled to complete its establishment.

Notables in Picture.
Among the famous and historic figures shown in the painting is the fourth Earl of Shaftesbury, the first of the trustees to attach his signature to the treaty; the Earl of Egmont, president of the trustees, James Oglethorpe, and others.

In giving the picture to Georgia, the Earl of Shaftesbury writes Governor Clifford Walker that he makes the gift, "hoping that it may form yet another link in the chain of history which binds the Old World to the New, the English families to their kinsfolk across the seas." The letter is written on large size heavy writing paper, with the Shaftesbury crest embossed at the top. Dated the 21st of October, this year, it reads as follows:

"To the Governor of the State of Georgia:

"My Dear Sir: On the sixteenth day of this month, a painting was despatched to you, which painting is a copy of the original picture now in my possession.

"My purpose is to present this copy as a gift to the state of Georgia, with the hope that it may meet with kindly acceptance.

"I believe it to be a very good copy, and the subject well, I trust, of interest to the good people of Georgia.

"I am pleased to think that they should have it, hoping that it may form yet another link in the chain of history which binds the Old World to the New, the English families to their kinsfolk across the seas.

"The charter of the trustees for the establishment of the Colony of Georgia was granted by King George II on the 9th of June, 1732.

"The Earl of Egmont was the first president, James Edward Oglethorpe gave the first hint of the project.

"The common council of Georgia was composed of a smaller group of the trustees who transacted most of the business.

"The painting consists of the council as it was composed in 1734.

"The fourth Earl of Shaftesbury was selected to the common council on the 15th of March, 1733. He resigned in 1739 but was reelected in 1740.

"He continued to be a common councilman until the charter granted in 1732 was surrendered on the 21st of March, 1752.

"On that occasion the Earl of Shaftesbury, with several others was appointed on a committee to adjust with the administration the proper means for supporting and settling the colony for the future, and for taking all such measures as they should find necessary for its well-being.

"To the fourth earl belongs therefore the honor of preserving the rights of the people of Georgia. Because of the services he rendered in the transfer of the earl was given the painting of the council of Georgia in treaty with the Indians.

"The painting was made by William Verelst in 1734-5, the various members sitting in turn for it. Verelst belonged to a family of famous Belgian painters who had settled in England.

"I remain, sir,
(Signed) "SHAFTESBURY."

Other Plans Afoot.
The existence of the original painting was first brought to the attention of the state of Georgia several years ago by Professor Rand, of Harvard university, who has made a deep study of the history and records of American colonial days. He has taken great interest in the picture and has visited at St. Giles' house in England and helped look up records and trace the history of the work.

Some years ago he sent a photographic copy of the painting here.

By peculiar coincidence the painting arrived in Atlanta, totally unheeded, on Wednesday, when the executive board of the state D. A. R. was meeting here. They were shown the picture at the governor's mansion immediately it was uncrated, and expressed great interest in the work and high praise for the generous gift from the Earl of Shaftesbury.

The D. A. R. has under consideration, a suggestion made by Mrs. Clifford Walker, that the state procure paintings of the colonial governors, to hang in the capitol beside those of governors of more modern days. It is believed that the receipt of this picture will enhance interest in this proposal.

Copy Is Fine Work.
The copy sent to Georgia cannot be told from the original, except by an expert, it is said. The old-fashioned frame has been reproduced, though plaques have been set on all four sides. The upper plaque tells the occasion depicted, while the lower gives the names of the painters and dates. Those on either side list the figures in the picture with numbers keying each one.

The upper plaque reads:
"A representation of the audience given by the trustees for establishing the colony of Georgia in America, to Tonia Chachi Mico, of Yamacraw, and his Indians, on the third day of July in the year of our Lord, 1734."

The lower plaque reads:
"Presented to the state of Georgia in 1926 by Anthony Ashley Cooper, ninth Earl of Shaftesbury. Copied by Edmund Dyer (London, 1926), from the original by William Verelst (1734-35)."

Names of Trustees.
The names of the trustees shown on the two side panels are as follows: Earl of Egmont, president; Anthony Ashley, Earl of Shaftesbury; Lord Viscount Trenchard; James, Lord Viscount Lincolne; George, Lord Carpenter; Sir William Heathcote, Bart.; Robert Kendall, Esq. REPORTS ARE READ AT A. M. E. CONFERENCE

The second day of the Atlanta, Ga., conference of the A. M. E. church, holding daily sessions in Allen Temple church, Bishop J. S. Flipper, D. D., episcopal head of the denomination in Georgia, presiding, opened Thursday morning.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. E. Griggs, presiding elder of the Monticello district. Minutes of the previous day's sessions were adopted.

"The time has come in the life of the A. M. E. church, when whisky drinkers and preachers who live unwholesome lives have no place in its ranks," declared Bishop Flipper to the class before the altar for admission.

"But preachers are called of God to preach His word to all nations and to declare His gospel, which saves to the uttermost," he said.

The pastors read reports by districts, which showed gain in members and attendance along all lines. Each of the five districts, from their reports, and under a careful survey of the presiding elders, from an economic view went far over in church building and repairing of parsonage, and the spirit life of the community was better than in previous years.

The church has been a great medium, the reports showed, through which peace and contentment has come to the restless in many sections.

The conference adopted a resolution for the return of Bishop Flipper, to serve the state for another quadrennium. The electoral college, the meeting which elects lay delegates to the general conference, will meet in Madison, Ga., in 1927.

Conference board, Education, Dr. D. R. Forbes, B. V. Thornton, J. R. Gardner; church extension, H. D. Canady, R. R. Robinson, J. L. Butler, W. Boyd Lawrence; trials of appeals, J. H. McFarlin, J. E. McCain, W. J. Jones, C. D. Thornton, Dr. J. H. McFarlin was appointed conference president of the Allen Christian Endeavor league. Dr. C. A.

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11 1/2 pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Jacobs Drug Stores and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them—(adv.)

Thanksgiving Dinner Announced For East Lake Country Club

Announcement is made of the annual Thanksgiving dinner-dance at the East Lake Country club on the evening of November 25. This event will be among the numerous brilliant social gaudies that will mark the Thanksgiving holidays. The occasion will assemble a large number of out-of-town guests who will be in the city for the Tech-Auburn game and a joyful holiday spirit will prevail throughout the evening. Dinner will be served at 8 o'clock and the management requests members to make reservations immediately.

Today's Events.
The social calendar of today reveals a galaxy of parties and this week-end gives promise of being the gayest so far of the winter season. College affairs will take precedence and visitors who are arriving hourly for the Tech-Georgia game Saturday will be central figures in the whirl of festivities.

Among the outstanding events of this evening will be the "all-state" dinner at which the Atlanta alumni of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity will entertain at the Atlanta Athletic club. Of equal importance is the annual banquet and dance at which the Chi Phi Alumni association will entertain this evening at the Piedmont Driving club.

A benefit party centering the interest of the college set will be the bridge party at which the Washington Seminary Alumnae association will give at the school this afternoon, the affair to assemble a large number of former students of the seminary and their friends.

Other affairs featuring the social program today will be the fortnightly hop at the Officers' club at Fort McPherson and the Yaarab temple dinner-dance at the Druid Hills Golf club.

Mrs. Dinkler Honors

Miss Marion Smith.

Miss Marion Hull Smith, who leaves in November for a European trip, was the central figure at an exquisitely appointed farewell luncheon Thursday, at which Mrs. Carl Dinkler was hostess at the Capital City club. Invited to meet Miss Smith were Misses Betty Park, Virginia White, Austin Kelly, Sally Kellogg, Sarah Fischer, Josephine Clark, Josephine Hollis and Edna Belle King.

Mrs. Christopher Gives Informal Luncheon.

Mrs. A. E. Christopher was hostess at an informal luncheon at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel Wednesday, honoring two attractive visitors, Mrs. H. E. Carroll, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. F. E. Doyle, of Toledo, Ohio. Completing the party were Mrs. L. C. Carroll and Mrs. S. T. Thorne.

Armistice Day Observed by Legion.

An interesting program featured the dinner-dance of the Argonne post of the American Legion on Thursday evening at the Atlanta Biltmore in celebration of Armistice day. A number of surprise dances were introduced and other cabaret stunts will be delightful features. Army songs by the assembled guests led by Sergeant Cranston of the marines.

Women Voters Will Elect Officers Today

Elections for 1927 officers of the Atlanta League of Women Voters will take place at league headquarters, 356-7 Candler annex, from 8 o'clock to 4 p. m. Friday, November 19. Due to a change in the league constitution, made at the recent fourth quarterly meeting of the league, the elections will be held six weeks earlier than usual this year and in the future. Election managers for the day have been announced as follows: Mrs. N. V. Perry, from 8 to 10 o'clock; Mrs. W. C. Robinson, 10 to 12 o'clock; Miss Lucy Nagle, from 12 to 2 o'clock; and Mrs. G. L. Wentworth, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

According to the league constitution no name for president may be printed on the ballots unless two or more women give their consent. The ballot, therefore, will appear this year with three blank spaces and the members will fill in three names in the order of their choice. Their choice does not have to be confined to the ones nominated, but may be either from the nominations or any member of the league.

The following members have been nominated from the 12 ward leagues in the city for directors of the league for 1927 and their names will appear on the ballot, six of whom are to be elected: Mesdames J. E. Andrew, Alfred Bailey, Charles Coburn, Ira Farmer, Virginia Henderson, Fred Hodgson, Palmer Johnson, Katherine Koch, Donald Loyless, George A. Matson, Mary Raoul, Fred Rice, Benjamin Smith, J. E. Springer, Luther Still, George Turner, J. P. Billups, A. G. Helmer and J. R. Weatherington.

The league's monthly organ, will be off the press the week of November 14 and it is very important that members read the instructions in that issue on the elections. If a member finds it impossible to vote in person she may cut the ballot from her Pilgrim and mail it in. An interesting feature preceding the elections will be a talk on the Hare system of proportional representation to explain the league's election and the modern system of count. This will be given in hall one of the chamber of commerce at 11 o'clock Wednesday, November 17, and will probably last one hour. The method of election is considered not only modern, but the most democratic of any yet evolved, and has been an established custom of the league's for several years.

STEWART'S knowledge of the meaning of "good" in the buying and selling of shoes and hosiery is precisely what Webster has said about the word. He has defined "good" as genuine, useful, satisfactory, and each of these definitions applies to Stewart's footwear.

First, shoes must be "genuine" in their representation of quality, material and workmanship. Then, they must be "useful"—made comfortable, and made to fit, thus insuring durability and long wear. Then, "satisfaction," and footwear selected in the manner employed by Stewart's and priced so unusually low is certain to be satisfactory in every way.

Fashions Sketched by Kay

Flame, that gorgeous color for the holiday dances—fascinating, alluring, captivating, fashioning a frock created for her whose youth is more poignant because of its spice of sophistication. Daring, yet subtle, it is of chiffon sponsoring Rodier's hand-knotted fringe. It is fringe, fringe everywhere. In Paris, we are told, and there is a wonder why the Parisians have this craze when it accentuates so beautifully woman's grace of movement? The surplus closing the winglike drape from shoulder to waist, the bloused bodice, the bow at the side, the embroidered motifs, chiffon and fringe are all so highly favored in the mode; and combined as they have been in this frock, I have sketched from Muse's Henry Gray Shop, capture the spirit of the hour, and also the feminine heart.

Georgia Holds Exercises For World War Soldiers

LaGrange, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—When international politics prevented the United States from signing the Versailles treaty this nation not only relinquished the position of world leadership, but also repudiated its world war policy, was the declaration here today of Emory P. Bass, American Legion commander for Georgia, who was the principal speaker at the Armistice day exercises here.

In part he said: "Washington in all of his glory and that of his innumerable soldiers, our forefathers, could have witnessed the performances of this nation in 1917 and 1918, he would have been astounded in his admiration. "This involves another world drama, and at this point, I speak personal views in this connection, but when because of international politics representing the selfish motives of individuals, our nation was prevented from signing the Versailles treaty, she relinquished her position of world leadership and practically repudiated her world war policy, and therefore the acts of her army and navy. The realization of international peace was set back to an incalculable degree. "I tell you that we have battles at home to fight and win now, if this land settled for freedom and justice is to avoid consequences comparable in seriousness to the great war, so far as our future is concerned. It is just as much a duty to preserve and protect the principles laid down according to our constitution now as when attacked by force in war. "There are two existing conditions that menace our safety. First, the presence of inimical individuals within our borders who would overthrow our government and second, the present apathy and disinterested attitude of our voting population. The first hibernates and survives on the lethargy of the latter class. "I say the ignorant and susceptible have been exploited in Georgia and the level-headed men in the state have been to blame for it. Don't ask how conditions could have been helped. When less than half of the voters go to the polls, you can't expect them to be remedied. Neither can you expect able and respectable men to offer for the most responsible offices. "I believe in prohibition, and the eighteen amendment is not the only law so freely violated here at home. In many instances, from municipalities on up, we have officers who have not the moral backbone to discharge their duties. "Lynchings! How many times have we hung our heads in shame at such evidences of disrespect for law? We have enough intelligent men and women in this state whose power should prevent the recurrence of such another crime of this kind upon the name of our courts. Since the English barons in 1215 forced King John at Runnymede to sign the magna carta, guaranteeing man's rights and privileges, they have been so recognized, and when our courthouses cease to be respected as the temples of justice to every citizen residing within the domain of its protection, then we have forsaken our principles of freedom and democracy and turned to an autocracy, or worse—a disorganized bunch in."

Judge Beck at Jackson. (Special.)—Armistice day was observed here with fitting exercises consisting of placing wreaths on the graves of soldiers, an address by Justice Marcus W. Beck, of the state supreme court; the delivery of crosses of honor to lineal descendants of civil war veterans, who fought in the world war; a sham battle by the Jackson rifles, and a barbecue served to the veterans by the U. D. C. chapter. The program was planned and carried out by the Larkin Watson chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy. Judge Beck, whose son, Marcus Beck, Jr., was killed with the marines at the battle of Chateau Thierry, and who is buried in the Jackson cemetery, made a brilliant address to a large gathering. The business houses closed for the exercises.

Following the exercises in the school auditorium all world war veterans, the military company and the families of boys buried in Butts county were guests of the U. D. C. members at a barbecue on the school grounds. Valdosta Celebrates. Valdosta, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Valdosta celebrated Armistice

Along the sidelines was the biggest crowd that has assembled here for a parade since the first Armistice day.

Exercises at Barnesville. Barnesville, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Armistice day was observed here in the presence of a large audience, the students of Gordon and the Sixth District A. & M. school attending and many citizens from the county coming in to witness the exercises. Determined Contestants Noted in Elephant Game

"Would it sound out of the way to say that I am going to win a prize? Well, I am!" This is the message from Athens, Ga., to the manager of The Constitution elephant adding contest. The language indicates the courage which the nature of the competition inspires. The contestant that writes with such determination and optimism has not been in the contest very long. In fact, he asks for copies of the elephant chart, rules and instructions. The same courage and optimism is reflected in hundreds of letters The Constitution is receiving every day. It is no joke with this newly-recruited army to go after that $2,000 prize. Failing to get the $2,000 prize, there is a chance of the $1,000, and so on down the list for the entire thirty, for there are thirty cash prizes offered, aggregating over $4,440. There is room in the ranks for a few thousand more workers of the same nerve and temper.

Plenty of Time. There is plenty of time to start in now and find the "weight" of the elephant; so men, women, boys and girls are invited to come in NOW. If they want $2,000, and want it had, the contest wants them. Workers who are determined to win $2,000 are bound to make good solutions. Read the advertisement in today's issue. If you need additional charts of the elephant, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the contest manager, Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., and a full supply will be sent you by return mail. It is not necessary that a contestant send his or her own subscription.

The contestant can have the solution recorded in the name of the sender and the paper sent to some other party, even to an entirely different address in a different state.

The sum of $9.50 for twelve months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution, together with two new six months' subscriptions at $5.00 each, or a total of $19.50, qualifies for the larger prize of $2,000, or $500 for one yearly subscription qualifies for $1,000, while $5.00 for one six months' subscription qualifies for $500 first prize and $250 for a three months' subscription qualifies for $200 first prize.

Dalton, Ga., November 11.—(Special).—Judge Andrew J. Longley died here last night at a hospital after a long illness.

He was prominently identified with the history of Whitfield county, having at various times served as justice of the peace, representative and senator in the legislature of Georgia from this county and as judge of the city court of Dalton and recorder of Dalton. He was chairman of the democratic executive committee of Whitfield county.

Judge Longley was of scholarly attainments and was a recognized authority on Bible history. He ranked high in masonry as a student and preceptor of its lessons and had been honored by the various offices of this organization.

Up until a short time before his death, Judge Longley was an active practitioner of law.

The funeral services were held at the First Baptist church, of which he was a member, Thursday morning, conducted by Rev. Josiah Crutcher, pastor, followed by interment in West View cemetery here with full masonic honors and an honorary escort of the Dalton bar association.

of the United States Forestry Experiment station, Sparks, Fla., and O. H. Wernicke, president of the Pine Institute of America.

Mr. Wernicke told of the cost of forest fires to the pine industry and of the necessity of curbing such fires. He told also of the objectives toward which the institute of America is working and of its research work for the building up of naval stores industries.

The hearers were convinced of the necessity of the work now being done by the government and private agencies toward the conservation and preservation of the pine tree as a source of continuous revenue and profit to the combined interests concerned.

WATKINS IN DEBATE FOR HIGHWAY BONDS

Citing extravagant costs in the present program of constructing Georgia roads in patches, there being 173 different projects now under way, as one of the greatest of the evils of the so-called "pay-as-you-go-plan," Edgar Watkins, Sr., Thursday afternoon in an address at the City club meeting at the Piedmont hotel opened a joint debate on the relative merits of bonds for roads against the "pay-as-you-go-plan."

Under a bond issue, Georgia's state-highway system of 8,300 miles would be laid out within a few short years at great saving through large quantity construction with greater purchasing power, Mr. Watkins declared. The speaker advocated a bond issue of $100,000,000 with the statement that it could be paid in thirty years without any increase in taxation.

The side of the "pay-as-you-go-plan" will be presented at the City club meeting next Thursday, by Walter McElreath, and at a meeting early in December, both sides will be presented in rebuttal.

"If we had such a bond issue there would be sold at once enough bonds to reimburse the counties for the money they have advanced the state through the sale of county bonds," Mr. Watkins said. "The rest of the bonds should be sold as rapidly as the construction progresses, probably at the rate of some $25,000,000 annually. A capable bond commission would sell these bonds at such times as would give the state the best market and in such moments as would save the state from paying interest on idle money."

About $1,000 to $1,500 in cash was taken. The loss was insured, it is stated.

Black Butterflies

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

INSTALLMENT XLVII.

A TRIBUTE TO THE BUTTERFLIES.

The Bradleys were gay and friendly. They had plans for the future—a dinner for the Goddards and immediate membership in the Country club. They had been worrying David on that point for some time, they reminded him, but he had always sidestepped. Now he and his wife must joint at once. The Bradleys would arrange it. David agreed with thanks before Dorinda could speak. He knew the Bradleys could arrange it. Dick was president of the club and Alice was on the membership committee.

When the Bradleys left, Dorinda remained with David, but she seemed restless. She roamed about, giving unneeded touches to the flowers, and finally she went to the window and stood for a long time with her back to the room, staring out at the winking darkness. At last she flung over her shoulder the question that filled her mind.

"Don't you think it's odd that Kitty and Chad and Jim haven't been near us for three days?"

David admitted that it was odd. He did not add his inner conviction that in his case it was a heart-warming instance of the wind tempered to the shorn lamb, but Dorinda read the thought.

"Of course, it doesn't matter to you," she began rather sharply, and then stopped and bit her lip. "I mean," she added in a different tone, "that, naturally, you don't mind, because you don't care for them as I do. But there hasn't been a time since they began to come here when they've stayed away for three whole days. What do you suppose it means?"

She hurried to the telephone and gave the number, while he watched her in silence.

David followed her mental processes as clearly as if they had been printed on the opposite wall. It had been his day and she had felt out of it. His friends, his interests, his atmosphere filled the house, and its mistress was lonely.

"I think it's easy to understand," he said. "For one reason, they've had a pretty stiff dose of us lately, you know, and they may be fed up. For another, they must have heard, since the whole town seems to know about it, that I've been knocked out and that the house is full of ether. That's enough to keep any one away. I don't believe the Butterflies go in much for sickrooms," he went on, conversationally. "I'd say every instinct of theirs is against it, so it was really fine of Kitty and Chad and Jim to stand around three days at the Adneyport hospital. It would be only natural if now they think they had enough."

"I suppose that's it—of course it is." As if the tribute to them—the first he had ever offered—had touched her, Dorinda came and sat beside him.

"But that doesn't explain Norma," she went on, depressedly. "You heard Mr. Hatch say she's back."

"I know. I'm surprised at Norma myself." "Probably they were back when we got home," Dorinda went on. "They must have heard about the accident and about this new trouble with your arm. They're both your friends, and Norma and I really loved each other. Yet she hasn't even telephoned."

"I can't understand it," he admitted. "She stood up, on one of the swift impulses she always followed as swiftly as they came."

"I'm going to telephone her. Do you mind if I telephone right here?"

"Of course not. But—do you think it's a good idea?"

"Why isn't it?"

"I'm not sure it isn't—I'm just asking. Why not think about it a bit?"

"If I do I won't telephone. I'd rather have it over."

She hurried to the telephone and gave the number, while he watched her in silence. Perhaps she was right. As he had said, he didn't know. She spoke.

"Hello. Is that you, Margaret? This is Miss Maxwell—I mean Mrs. David Goddard." Over the instrument she made one of her little gamin grimaces at him in recognition of the slip. Something about the episode gave him a new sensation, fleeting yet strong. "I'd like to speak to Miss Davis, please," Dorinda was saying. "Is she in? Yes, thank you, I'll hold the line."

She nodded to David, and her lips formed almost noiseless words: "She's in. Now—we'll see!"

There was a wait—possibly a slightly longer wait than would have been natural. Then Dorinda's voice again.

"Hello. Is that you, Norma? O, I'm so glad. I've just heard you're back. Yes—yes—"

A pause, filled with the sound of a murmuring wire. Then Dorinda's voice.

"Yes, it was a nasty mess, but we're all right again—that is, I am, and David's going to be. I suppose you've heard that he had to have his arm broken over again yesterday morning."

More of the murmuring wire. Dorinda continued.

"That's sweet of you, dear. Of course we know—A rising excitement sharpened her voice. "You are! Really! Norma, I'm so sorry! I hadn't taken that in at all—I thought you just went south for pleasure—and here I've been prattling about our affairs. But, surely you're coming to see us before you sail, aren't you? We'd both love—yes, I know—of course. Well, then, why not tonight? David's sitting up now, as fresh as paint, but I know I'm boring him to death. The phrase fell from her lips in an unconscious but perfect imitation of Alice Bradley's casual lilt. "Can't you come in and cheer us both? Why, of course he's up to it—he's been seeing people all day—the Bradleys and Mr. Hatch. No, he isn't a bit tired. Yes—yes—"

It was plain that the girl at the other end was not accepting the invitation with alacrity; that, indeed, she was, as the Bradleys would put it, "sidestepping." With growing interest the observer watched Dorinda's face, which alternately lit and darkened as if lights were playing over it. At the end it was dark.

"That's splendid. Couldn't you come to dinner—at seven? We're having it upstairs, of course. Not possible? O, well, at eight o'clock, then. I'm so glad we'll get at least a glimpse of you. Good-by—good-by."

She set down the instrument and gave him a synopsis of the discussion in seven words: "She's coming—but she doesn't want to."

As he took this in silence, she crossed to the fire and stood looking down into it.

"Norma's going abroad," she told David without turning. "That's why they came home. They're sailing on Saturday." She stood silent for a moment and then went on. "I'm perfectly sure she hadn't the faintest idea of coming here or the least notion of picking up our friendship. At the end she gave way because they're going to be gone a year and she didn't think one little visit would make any difference. But—she's through with me!"

"I think you're a little morbid about this," David said gently. He couldn't bear to see that look on her face. He was so sorry for her that his throat hurt.

"We heard that Norma had been ill," he went on, "though we didn't realize it was serious. People who can afford it are always running south to cure slight colds. Evidently she was really under the weather and she hasn't got entirely well, so they're trying Europe. All that's clear enough, and it's pretty easy to imagine how Norma feels—discouraged, perhaps; hopeless, perhaps even badly frightened about herself. Or she may be having one of the cases of nerves girls seem to be going in for more than ever these days. Anyway, she's up against something. She doesn't want to see any one or go anywhere. I think you'll find the explanation of her manner is that she hasn't given us a thought—one way or the other. She's in the pit of invalidism—and it's a mighty lonesome place."

Tornado and Bulldogs Are Girded For Classic Affray

New Bag of Tricks To Be Opened When Tech Meets Georgia

Alec's New Backfield Will Probably Start—Bob Horn Expected to Turn in Surprising Performance—Athenian Plays Carefully Rehearsed.

BY CARTER BARRON.

THE TORNADO will blow out on Tech field this afternoon in the final workout before they tangle with the Georgia Bulldogs in a game that has every aspect of being the greatest battle ever waged on Grant field. Coach Alexander, using a new backfield, will spring a series and number of tricks that has not been exhibited by the Jackets in a single performance this year, and a number of them have not been used before this season.

The outlook is promising at Tech, but it holds a bitter tang of doubt. It's a mighty strong Bulldog that's coming from Athens. And it's a somewhat crippled Tornado that is going to meet the attack.

But Bob Horn, playing at right halfback, is, as has already been said, just about on the verge of making a name for himself. Parham will be there with bells on, that much is certain. Then you have the new tricks, some of which are dazzling in their cleverness, to count in. All in all it would seem that the Tornado has many assets to balance its liabilities of the casualty list.

The Jackets have gone through the entire category of Bulldog tactics. Unless the Georgians from Athens spring a lot of stuff that will be on a par with the newness of the plays that Tech is preparing, then there will be nothing new exhibited on Grant field as far as the Techsters are concerned.

Tech is pointing for that battle. The Techsters feel that The Constitution trophy will stay in the vault another year, and they plan to make sure that it will. It will be a memorable battle, however, even if the University of Georgia does carve its name on that cup under the Tornado.

It says Georgia Tech, 3—Georgia 0, 1925.

The reports are that the Bulldogs will move their camp to an Atlanta hotel about Saturday morning. If they wait until then, then half of Georgia, not meaning Athens particularly, but the entire commonwealth, will have preceded them.

For there is already an indication that a whole lot of people that don't call Atlanta home are in Atlanta and they are here for one purpose, that of getting into Grant field somehow Saturday afternoon before, or even shortly after, 2 o'clock.

Racing Notables See Senator Win

Longwood, Fla., November 11.—(AP)—Several notables of the thoroughbred racing world were among the 5,000 persons who saw Tech Senator, a son of Peter the Great, lead a fast field in the inaugural stake of the Seminole Racing club today.

The Senator's time for the 2:07 class trot was 2:07.4 in each of two heats, and in both he went away from a fast field. S. F. Palin was in the sulky.

Princess Iriquois, out of Princess Ouida, had little difficulty in the Armistice day stake race, a 2:12 trot, winning handsily in 2:09.1. A. T. Morrison, owner and trainer, was in the sulky. Helen Direct, driven by H. Gray, was second.

Moccasins Defeat Georgia A. and M.

Winterhaven, Fla., November 11.—(AP)—The Southern College Moccasins ran roughshod over the South Georgia A. & M. here today, winning 54 to 0. In the feature sports event of the local Armistice day celebration.

Southern reserves were sent into the game as the second half began, and finished the game.

Athletic Board To Meet Tonight

A meeting of the athletic board of the Atlanta Athletic club will be held at the club tonight at 8:30 o'clock, according to announcement Thursday night. The meeting is called for a revision of the local board of officials.

Gator Rats Defeat Auburn Freshmen

Gainesville, Fla., November 11.—(AP)—Mills Smith, halfback on the Florida Rat team, intercepted an Auburn pass on his 25-yard line and ran 75 yards for a touchdown this afternoon to give his outfit an 18-to-13 victory over the invaders. The Baby Gators thus kept intact their spotless record and ran their list of wins to four.

Auburn presented a difficult problem to the local players, who were rushed off their feet in the first half by the consistent line gains of Callahan and Crawford's bull-like passes over the line. The visitors left the field at the end of the half with a lead of 13 to 12, but did not seriously threaten Florida's goal after that time. The game was played under ideal weather conditions.

Big Jeff Fights Another Battle

Glendale, Calif., November 11.—James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, has another battle on his hands, with a pedigreed pomeranian "Toodles" as the prize. Mrs. Mary Swift, chamber of commerce official, has filed a claim and delivery suit against Jeffries for the return of the dog, which is now in the possession of 18-year-old Mary Jeffries, daughter of the former fighter.

Milton Steengrafe, Harris Released

Chicago, November 11.—(AP)—Pitcher Milton Steengrafe and outfielder Spencer Harris were released by the Chicago White Sox today. Steengrafe, who was obtained from the Little Rock, Southern association club, last season, goes to the Wichita Falls, Texas league, club, and Harris, who has been with the Chicago club for some time, was turned over to Shreveport in the Texas league.

Soldiers Lose To Devil Dogs In Savannah, 16 to 7

Ft. Benning Stars Are Unable To Halt Parris Island Team

Army Flashes Great Passing Game But Loses to Parris Island Marines in Armistice Day Game at Savannah.

BY BOB GORDON.

SAVANNAH, GA., November 11.—The Parris Island Marines defeated the soldiers from Fort Benning in a thrilling battle here today before the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in Savannah. The final score was 16 to 7.

The Army was the first to score after a march from their own 25-yard line. Kjelstrom passed to Franz, who ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Franz took another pass from Kjelstrom for the extra point.

A 15-yard run by Miller, a long pass from Gotko to Hartley, and a 15-yard pass from Wetja to Hartley placed the ball on the Army's 10-yard line at the end of the first quarter. On the next play Miller fumbled the ball but recovered and ran to the one-yard line. The second touchdown was scored by the Marines when Thompson fumbled a punt on his own 25-yard line. Hartley scooped up the ball and ran 15 yards to the 10-yard line. Cobb was knocked out on the next play and was carried from the field.

Gotko then passed to Jones, who needed ten yards for the Marines' second score. Wetja kicked the extra point.

The half ended with the Marines in possession of the ball on their 15-yard line, where the Army had carried it with a series of long passes from Kjelstrom to Franz and Sweeney. There was no scoring in the third period, which was featured by penalties and long passes by both sides. The quarter ended with the ball in the Army's possession in the center of the field.

The Marines scored two points on a safety when Sweeney lost 12 yards while attempting to return a pass. He was finally downed after being chased across the field twice. With the ball on their 5-yard line the Army center made a bad pass to Kjelstrom, who was tackled by Blaine behind his goal line.

The Army tried vainly to score with an aerial attack, but by this time the Marines had solved their opponents' passing game and were never in danger. Hartley attempted a place-kick from the 40-yard line, but was short. The game ended with the ball in possession of the Soldiers on their own 20-yard line.

Marquette Leaves For Auburn Tilt

MILWAUKEE, Wis., November 11.—(AP)—Coach Frank Murray and 28 Marquette university gridirons today celebrated Armistice day by entraining for Birmingham, Ala., where the Golden Avalanche will engage Auburn Saturday.

Soccer Players To Receive Posts

All soccer players and others interested are requested to be at Piedmont park Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for practice when positions of the team will be designated. Arrangements have been made for several games with other teams scheduled two weeks hence. For information call H. Klein, Walnut 7378, or Walnut 4733.

ARMY READY FOR BIG TILT WITH IRISH

West Point, N. Y., November 11.—The Army has finished its preparations for the Notre Dame contest. Head Coach Jones had the cadets on their toes for two hours Thursday afternoon. The work was light but there was plenty of it.

All the Notre Dame formation which Army knows of had their last trial in dummy scrimmage and Army's own offensive received its final polish.

The varsity team men were all in their places, but one or two positions seem to be in doubt yet. Either Hewitt or Murrell may start at fullback and for one of the guard positions both Seeman and Hammack are being considered. Hewitt and Murrell both went through a long kicking drill Thursday. Brentnall also had a turn at punting, although he is not considered as a likely starter, since he is a substitute end. Trapnell was in the signal practice and it is hoped to use him for a brief spell. He again wore his face mask as protection for his broken nose.

Because of the uncertainty concerning the doubtful places on the eleven, "Biff" Jones, head coach, said today that he would not announce his lineup for the game until the Army squad departed for New York Friday. The cadet corps, 1,200 strong, will leave West Point Saturday morning in two special trains. They will march into the Yankee stadium and give their military drill on the field before going into their cheering section of the grandstand.

Princeton Goal Post Uprooters Appease Coppers

Princeton, N. J., November 11.—Princeton students have sent a box of cigars to each Boston policeman engaged in the rumpled which resulted in the seizure of the Harvard goal posts after the victory of the Tigers over the Crimson last Saturday, and there is a general tendency on the Princeton campus to deplore but not to apologize for severance of athletic relations between the two universities. The sole topic of conversation on the campus here Thursday was the break with Harvard. Princeton's board of athletic control has the unanimous support of the student body, which realizes that Harvard was on the verge of dropping the Tigers from the football schedule. When word spread throughout the student body that Harvard had been notified that Princeton would no longer continue athletic relations with the Crimson, the first tendency was to cheer; the second, to regret the fracture in the structure of the "Big Three."

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Hunsinger Performs at Spiller's.
In the fever of looking forward to a hectic Saturday at Grant field it is not to be forgotten that Friday also has some football on its schedule when the prep teams of the city meet in the semi-final games of the G. I. A. A. race.

There are four or five teams tied for first place in the scramble at the present time, with two of the leaders Atlanta teams. University school and Tech High are the two local aggregations in the top list at present and it is of the former school that we write now.

The University school Bluebirds, under the tutelage of Pup Phillips, has turned out as sweet a football team as has been seen in Atlanta in many a year and in this game today with the Poets of Lanier High, of Macon, should furnish all that is to be desired in the way of football.

Lanier High is one of the nearly half dozen teams now in a position to land on top of the G. I. A. A. heap this year, which will add greatly to the interest of the game.

Several weeks ago this column urged football fans to go and see a prep game at Spiller's field, and we say without fear of contradiction that spectators were not disappointed at that time. Now again we urge a trip to Spiller's and we also suggest that a careful eye be cast in the direction of John Hunsinger, who plays halfback for the Bluebirds. Hunsinger is to University what Stumpy Thomason was to Tech High two years ago, and unless John breaks a leg he will vie for honors as the most valuable man in prep circles this year. He not only knows how to run with the ball, but he is a great defensive back. It is to be hoped that John will do the molekules of Tech after he finishes at University school. Maybe he will.

Tech Leads Bulldogs in Athletics.

On the eve of the big Saturday when the Yellow Jackets of Tech will attempt to sit upon the Bulldog of Georgia, it is interesting to look over the record of 1925 and see just what happened when the Maroon and Black met the Yellow and Gold on various fields of athletic endeavor.

Last year the members of Tech and Georgia's varsity teams met 22 times and the freshmen 8 times. Though all the contests have been hard fought and the scores of practically every event close, Tech has managed to win 14 of the varsity contests to Georgia's 8, and 7 out of 8 freshman contests. The past year was the first since athletic relations were resumed that Tech and Georgia indulged in football. Tech won the football game, 3 to 0, in one of the hardest fought and most exciting battles ever staged on Grant field.

Georgia took the basketball honors by winning two out of the three games played.

In baseball the count is balanced. Though Tech won the conference title, Georgia took the Tech diamond men into camp for two straight games in Athens. Tech staged a comeback a week later when the teams met on Spiller field and evened the count by winning both games.

The Tech varsity lacrosse team won the two games played in Atlanta and split the series in Athens, winning one game and dropping one.

Georgia won the dual track meet with Tech by a decisive score. But Tech placed ahead of Georgia in the southern conference and state meet and the Southeastern A. A. U.

The Georgia and Tech cross-country teams met three times. Georgia won a dual meet between the two schools and won the Birmingham road race. But Tech won the southern conference cross-country championship run, defeating Georgia in this race.

The Tech tennis team defeated Georgia in a dual meet, winning five of the seven matches played.

Georgia lost both swimming meets to the Yellow Jackets, one being held in Atlanta and the other in Athens.

Last year the Jacket and Bulldog rats did not meet on the gridiron. Georgia freshmen won one of the two basketball games and Tech the other. The Tech rats won the balance of the freshman contests by taking two baseball games, two lacrosse games and both swimming meets.

Many Feature Tilts On Dixie Gridirons

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
PICKING a feature game from this week-end's array of football classics is proving a hard task in the south as many teams meet ancient rivals, or are striving to better their season's record in the fog end of a season that has been featured by frequent upsets.

Ideal football weather, the first of the season, is promised for all sections of the south and Saturday's games are not only expected to result in a display of the best brand of football seen this season, but also in the largest crowds.

The Alabama-Florida game, at Cramton bowl, Montgomery, and the Tennessee-Vanderbilt game, at Nashville, are games in which general interest is manifest in view of the fact that both Alabama and Tennessee have come through heavy conference schedules with no defeats. Alabama's Crimson Tide, leading the conference with six victories, expects to show Coach Wallace Wade that the Florida Gators, though reveling in water, can be washed from their land feet. "Wu Wu" Winn, left, the two "Reds," Barnes and Brown, and other wavelets of the Tide, are in good shape and are expected to bear the brunt of the Tide's sweep. Coach Tom Riffe, in leaving Florida today, announced his team in good shape and the Gators, spurred forward by their overwhelming victory over Clemson last week, are certain to give the Tide considerable opposition.

The Vandy-Tennessee game will be one of the nip and tuck affairs of the day. Vandy's Commodores, who beat the Georgia Tech Golden Tornado into a mild zephyr last week, are expected to turn back the fighting Volunteers in Tennessee. Spensers Hendrix and Cargile, leaders in the Tech attack last week, will probably be at their best, but McGugin is giving the Commodores last-minute instructions to stop Elmore, Young and Dodson, the trio who last week helped the Volunteers subdue the Sewanee Tigers.

Every football fan in Georgia who can possibly get to Atlanta and crowd into Grant field will be on hand to see the Georgia Tech-Georgia game, the second since the two schools resumed athletic relations. Tech won the game last year, 3 to 0, and hopes to repeat this year, but the absence from the line-up of Carter Barron, Tornado back, which seems probable, may weaken the Tech chances. Even with Barron out, Coach Alexander will have Murray, Parham and others who will furnish excitement plenty for the Bulldogs. Jubilant over their victory over Auburn's Plainsmen last week, and determined to show Coach Alexander that their team is coming back after a rather tumultuous season, the Bulldogs will arrive in Atlanta today confident that the series will be evened this year. Captain Morton is expected to bear the brunt of the Georgia attack.

CADETS FIGHT ROMANS TO 6-6 TIE IN ROME

Rome, Ga., November 11.—(Special).—The Cadets of Georgia Military academy played the Rome High eleven to a touchdown tie here today in a game that kept the Cadets on the defensive throughout the greater part of the 60 minutes and the ball in Cadet territory most of that time.

Fielding Wight, Cadet end, made the lone touchdown for the Atlantans while Wicker was the scorer for the locals.

The Romans played excellent football, holding the much heavier Atlanta squad almost at will.

Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association records, will grapple for association honors at Chattanooga. Chattanooga has played two tie games this season. Centre travels to West Virginia's stronghold for a tilt with the Mountaineers and the Citadel-Clemson clash brings another Association-Conference game. Mercer's Bears invaded Florida for an Armistice day game with Rollins at Sanford, and won 55 to 0. North Carolina State defeated Duke 26-19 in another Armistice day tilt.

Schalk To Succeed Collins as Sox Pilot

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, November 11.—Ray Schalk is now manager of the White Sox.

The fiery little catcher, who has served behind the bat for the South Siders for over 14 years, was named tonight by Owner Charles A. Comiskey as the successor to Eddie Collins in directing the team.

The announcement was rather surprising, though it was felt that a change might be made since Collins no longer was able to perform regularly as a player and apparently was not able to keep his team going at top speed when he himself was not in the game. Collins will not be with the ball club any longer, waivers having already been asked as required by rule, and if no other club in the American league claims him, he will be given his unconditional release and be permitted to go where he pleases.

Mr. Comiskey offered little comment on the change other than that he felt Ray Schalk had the grit, enthusiasm and energy to put pep into a ball club as well as the personality and other qualifications that go to make a man a successful as a leader in the big leagues. After his long and untiring service with the club, it was quite fitting that he be given a chance as manager.

Schalk was present at Comiskey's office at the ball park when the announcement was made, and expressed enthusiasm over his new job. He had spent the last two weeks or more in

Valdosta Defeats Thomasville, 28-0

Valdosta, Ga., November 11.—The Valdosta Wildcats handed the Thomasville Bulldogs a defeat by the score of 28 to 0. McGowan, phenomenal halfback of the Cats, and Millon, Thomasville's center, were outstanding. Rose and Alton Boone, of the Cats, and Patterson, of the Bulldogs, were also effective.

Lanier High of Macon and University Clash Today

Both Teams Unbeaten In Race for G. I. A. A. Grid Championship

Purple Hurricane Goes to Newnan—Marist Meets Powder Springs on Local Campus—G. M. A. Cadets Meet Rome High in Rome.

BY BEN COTHRAN.
LANIER HIGH SCHOOL, of Macon, will make its first appearance in Atlanta this afternoon when the Poets and the University Bluebirds, a home product, entangle in one of the season's outstanding prep games, at Spiller's at 2:30 o'clock.

Lanier and University, along with Tech High, Riverside, and Monroe, are still very much in the running for this season's G. I. A. A. title, and the winner of this afternoon's game will receive a big boost. Pup Phillips, U. S. B. coach, has worked hard with his charges all week, and will present an eleven that is set to stop the Poets. Young Charlie Burton, quarterback, who made a good showing in the G. M. A. game, will be used at this position in today's game.

The Bluebird offensive will be greatly strengthened by the return of Olin Ferguson, fullback, who has been out for the past three weeks with an injured collar bone. Ferguson is U. S. B.'s best bet when it comes to bucking a line, and he has been hitting with his usual strength this week.

John Carey Hunsinger, probably the best prep backfield man since the days of "Stumpy" Thomson, and University's best ground gainer, is the Bluebird's biggest threat, both on offense and defense. Hunsinger can run the ends and hit off tackle with equal ease. His punts are good and he has a good average for the season. On defense his tackling is deadly and he seldom fails to get his man.

Strong Team.
Lanier is bringing a strong team to town, among them one Mr. Corbin, all-G. I. A. A. halfback last season, who is said to have been the main cause of Tech High's defeat in Macon a few weeks ago. Corbin is a good ball carrier and Lanier supporters say that he will be hard to stop this afternoon.

President White, of University, is looking forward to a large crowd this afternoon. He announced Thursday that Governor Clifford Walker, T. H. Glenn, patrons of the school, and Dr. W. H. Houghton, teacher of Biology, U. S. B., would be among those present at the game.

Several hundred Lanier students and supporters are expected to reach the city today and Tech and Georgia supporters are also expected to witness the game.

The time of the game is 2:30 o'clock. Probable lineups follow:

LANIER	Pos.	UNIV.
Underwood	l.e.	Goldsmith
Fugate	l.e.	Green
Swain	l.e.	Speaks
Burgess (G)	l.e.	Murray (C)

Corbin	q.b.	Weaver

Officials: Referee, Thompson (Ga.); umpire, Reynolds (Ga.); head linesman, Pontier (Army); field judge, Glassman.

PURPLE HURRICANE GOES TO NEWNAN.

The Purple is in good shape, with the exception of Duke Turner, who has a twisted ligament in his side. Coach Doyal announced Thursday that Duke might be able to play for a few minutes today.

The following men will make the trip with Shorty: Terrell, McCaulley, Regan, Fincher, W. Winn, McGee, Hey, Martin, Lyle, Turner, Young.

OSWALD WINS IN BILLIARD MEET OPENER

Philadelphia, November 11.—(AP)—Today's pocket billiard match between Harry Oswald, Pittsburgh, and Arthur Woods, Pawtucket, R. I., in the tournament for the championship of the world, was awarded to Oswald by forfeit.

Referee Joseph Ferguson awarded the match to the Pittsburgh player in the 43rd inning with the score 99 to 92 in favor of Oswald, because of undue delay on the part of Woods. At that time the match had been in progress 2 hours and 35 minutes.

Both men, anxious to win, had been resorting to safety play. Woods had been given one recess of ten minutes, and when he asked for another he was refused but took it despite the referee's refusal. The match was to have gone to 125 points.

Duval Defeated By Phillips Hi

Jacksonville, Fla., November 11.—(AP)—In a spectacular inter-state battle, the Phillips High school (Birmingham, Ala.) football team defeated the Duval High (Jacksonville, Fla.) team here today 12 to 7.

An 80-yard run by Chapman in the second quarter and a pass, Pillgreen to Church, in the third period, accounted for the Alabama scores.

A brilliant aerial attack in the final period gave Duval her score, Dorsett passing to Brennan, for the touchdown.

Four thousand fans braved chilling winds to see the colorful game.

Coffey, Breezy Winn, Reeder Colvin and Shiver.

MARIST CADETS READY FOR POWDER SPRINGS.
Joe Bean sent his Marist Cadets through their final workout Thursday, and the boys are all set to stop the invasion of Powder Springs A. M., and to also keep the record clear.

Last year Marist did not lose a single game, and they have failed to be defeated so far this season.

This record speaks well for Joe Bean, who has been turning out good teams at Marist for a long time. Marist is a small school, but Coach Bean always turns out a good team, whether he has good or bad material.

Charlie Rogers Seeks Grange's GroundMark

If Charlie Rogers, of Pennsylvania, can stay in the game long enough, or without any mishap he has a good chance of shattering Red Grange's ground-gaining record.

For the time Rogers was in the first five games he ran down the field for a grand total of 675 yards and in the first three of those five games he was only working a small portion of the time.

This feat is worthy of comparison when we find that in nearly twice as many games, Red Grange, while with Illinois, three years ago, tore up the sod for a total of 1,043 yards. If you double Rogers' work the figures give one a record of his gaining with a fair degree of accuracy.

Rogers only played part of three periods in Pennsylvania's opening game with Franklin and Marshall, and ran off a total of 145 yards. The Saturday following against Swarthmore he gained 151 yards in 40 minutes of play.

In the Johns Hopkins game he circled the ends for 146 yards, and in the Chicago game he tore off 132 yards.

In the contest against Williams he gained 101 yards in a single period. During the recent Illinois game he looked for all the world as if he was on his way to victory. Rogers first handled the ball against Illinois when he took a punt on the 35-yard line and raced it back to midfield.

He cut loose with a received punt on another run and cantered back 14 yards. Again he carried seven yards. It was Rogers who did most of the gaining in bringing the ball to the two-yard line and there, with a fourth down, Wascolis was elected to plunge and failed to make the distance. Many critics say Rogers could have carried far over the line, for a 6-to-3 victory.

Not only does Pennsylvania possess one of the greatest ball runners for the current season but it also boasts of the only pinch-hitter in football in Clarence Fields. He is listed as a sub, but in reality is as good or better than any of the varsity regulars, and rates as one of the most valuable players at Penn with the Red and Blue.

Destined to sit on the bench when the opening whistle blows, Fields bides his time until the call from Coach Young comes, and out he dashes on the gridiron.

Since the start of the season Fields has filled the role of utility back. He relieves Murphy when a signal caller is needed and he fills in at any one of the other three positions when a "magician," as the members of the backfield have been dubbed, is injured or is to be replaced.

Fields has been the star in every game he has played in. He is being heralded as a strong candidate for All-American honors.

This is Fields' senior year and he has never been a starter in the big games. During three years, however, he has been in virtually every game of importance on the schedule and he has played a stellar role in every contest.

The pinch-hitter, who can deliver in base, and the substitute, who can shoot a basket when needed in basketball, are no more valuable than Fields.

Wales May Sub Hunting for Golf
London, November 11.—Golf has worked its insidious way firmly into the Prince of Wales's favor, to the joy of his royal parents and many of his future subjects.

They hope that in time golf may supplant his favorite sport, the more dangerous pastime of foxhunting, at which he has risked his neck every autumn and winter for years.

As usual, Wales is maintaining a large stable of hunting horses at Melton-Mowbray, the strategic center of the most popular hunting country, and this year his brothers, the Duke of York and Prince Henry, are stabling horses there too.

But it is figured that if Wales is like other golf addicts, anything that interferes with golf now that he has acquired the habit will be cast aside.

He is still playing now, though the foxhunting season is in full cry, and sometimes does three rounds a day, taking only 15 minutes for lunch.

TWO LATEST HEAVY FINDS FROM BOSTON

New York, November 11.—It appears that Boston, once the home of the world's greatest heavyweight of all time, now has two big fellows, either of whom may eventually succeed to the championship which John L. Sullivan won on the green lawn amid the magnolias at Mississippi City.

When Jack Sharkey knocked all the championship aspirations out of Harry Wills at Ebbett's field on Columbus day, he was acknowledged as a likely contender for the heavyweight title some day, provided he made friends with Tex Rickard.

Sharkey, a Lithuanian with an unpronounceable name, asked to be called the "New Boston Strong Boy" and hurled defiance at Gene Tunney.

But before Sharkey convinces critics that he is indeed the "New Boston Strong Boy" and a worthy successor to the one and only John L., he must dispose of a fellow-townsmen, one Jimmy Maloney. The latter proved his worth last week when he knocked out Arturo De Kuhl in two rounds during a heavyweight show at Madison Square Garden. The manner of Maloney's victory left no doubt as to his ability.

Boston, once the home of great fighters, now should find out which of these two youngsters is the greater and send him steadily ahead on the road to the heavyweight championship.

Sharkey and Maloney have fought three times, according to the record books. Maloney won the decision in a ten-round encounter in 1924. He lost to Sharkey on a foul in nine rounds on June 5, 1925, and was outpointed by the Lithuanian December 11, 1925, in a ten-round bout. During one of these affairs, however, Maloney caused Sharkey to kiss the canvas no fewer than seven times.

The way Maloney went to work on De Kuhl the other night impressed the experts. He got in close and flattened the overrated Italian eight times before the referee wisely stopped the slaughter. De Kuhl, of course, lacked experience and had been pushed along too fast. But he had made a fair showing against some second raters and Maloney's victory should not be discounted too heavily.

Sharkey made an excellent showing against Wills. He subdued the erstwhile Black Panther before the negro took the easy way out and fouled.

GREAT FIELD IS PROMISED IN GOLF MEET

Los Angeles, November 11.—With more than 30 entries already received for the Los Angeles $10,000 open golf tournament, early indications are that the 1927 field will surpass that of January, 1926.

Many of the best known golfers of the country participated in the first Los Angeles open of last January, but with the early entries of Mike Brady, MacDonald Smith, Johnny Battini and Tom Kerrigan, of New York; Eddie Loos, of Glenview, Ill.; John Black, of Wichita, and Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, the tournament officials have been assured of a great field.

Tide Expects To Win From Gators Easily

BY BOB MATHERNE.

University, Ala., November 11.—Alabama's Crimson Tide will set sail early Friday morning for Montgomery, where on Saturday at Crampton bowl they will meet their seventh conference foe of the season, the Florida Gators. While the Crimson Tide are expected to win hands down, Coach Wallace Wade and his assistants have put the Tide squad through as stiff a practice week as they have any time this season.

The Tide will leave some 20-odd strong, practically the same troupe that has carried her colors on every foreign field this season. It will be a squad boasting of its best physical condition since the start of the season for every man on Deney field Thursday afternoon was as sound as one could expect one to be after eight grueling contests.

Workout Light.
Alabama's workout here Thursday afternoon was a very light one, in keeping with the usual last day at home practice. Considering, though, that the "rats" were scheduled to play the Mississippi Aggie freshmen here Friday afternoon, they could have hardly been used to scrimmage yesterday and the reserves were scrimmaged out by Thursday afternoon.

noon. Reserves and varsity men have been used in scrimmage twice this week against the frosh.

Alabama will start her best against Florida. That best will find "Wu" Winslett and Ben Enis on the flanks, Perry and Pickard at tackles, Pearce and Hazler at guards, Holmes at center, and Captain Barnes, Brown, Caldwell and Vines or Johnson in the backfield. Earl Smith, Archie Taylor and Rip Revere are likely starters in the backfield while Payne and Bowdoin are the most likely reserves to step in as starters on the line.

While the Tide are naturally expected to cop the fracas, don't think for the least while that they are overconfident nor that they won't exert themselves to the utmost in that game Saturday. Anyone who knows Wallace Wade will also know that he is not the coach that will tand for loafing. Nor one to allow over-confidence to creep in to take a toll. The Tide that plays, regardless of its personnel, will be out to win and win as soon as possible.

Leon Duray Winner Of 100-Mile Race In A. A. A. Events

Speedway, Charlotte, N. C., November 11.—(AP)—After Harry Hartz and Frank Lockhart had established two new world records, Leon Duray, by a spectacular burst of speed, captured the 100-mile race in the American championship sprint races here today.

In the 100-mile event Frank Elliott was second, Dr. William E. Shattuc was third and Harry Hartz fourth.

The winner's average speed was 122.8 miles per hour.

Approximately 12,000 persons witnessed the races. It was announced.

After the 50-mile race it was announced that Bennie Hill was sick and Lockhart, whose car went bad, entered the 100-mile race driving Hill's racer.

At the halfway mark Lockhart was about a mile and a half in the lead. Duray was second with Hartz half a lap behind.

Lockhart was forced to the pit in the 44th lap. It was understood the connecting rod on his car broke.

Harry Hartz, 1925 champion, won the 50-mile event in the American championship races here this afternoon, after a desperate struggle with Leon Duray, who finished second.

Davis Lewis finished third; Bennie Hill fourth and Peter DePaolo, 1925 champion, was fifth.

Hartz covered the 50 miles at an average speed of 129.35 miles per hour, which broke the record of 128.24 miles per hour set by Peter DePaolo at Salem, N. H., in July.

Frank Lockhart broke a world's record in winning the first 25-mile race at the Charlotte speedway this afternoon, covering the distance at a rate of 132.3 miles per hour.

The previous record of 130.39 miles per hour was held by Leon Duray.

Bennie Hill finished second; Frank Elliott third, and Dr. William E. Shattuc fourth.

Lockhart went into the pit on account of engine trouble on the fifth lap and Hill regained first place. Hartz was pushing him to the limit to keep the position.

Engine trouble forced Comer into the pit on his fourth lap.

The eighth lap found Hartz setting the pace with Duray and Hill in second and third places.

Lockhart remained in the pit but a moment and then started again but new trouble developed and again he was forced to retire.

Hartz, Duray and Peter Kreis were separated by only a few feet on the fourteenth lap. They were fighting for the lead.

A record for changing a tire on a racing automobile was set here today by Dick Doyle, chief mechanic for Leon Duray, whose time was 13.1 seconds.

The contest was the first ever held under the supervision of the American Automobile association.

Tony Gulotta, mechanic for Peter DePaolo, and Riley Britt, mechanic for Harry Hartz, tied for second place. Their time was 13.2 seconds.

BUCK MOORE AFTER GRANGE GAIN RECORD

New Orleans, November 11.—(AP)—Football fans of New Orleans are confident that Buck Moore, known as the "Dixie Flier," will break a record established by Harold ("Red") Grange at Illinois when the "galloping ghose" gained 1,043 yards in nine games. The Loyola backfield ace, in seven contests so far this year, has advanced the ball 956 yards from scrimmage. This is exclusive of a 75-yard sprint made after recovering a fumble in the Fort Bennis clash and numerous returns of punts and kick-offs.

In addition to his ability as a ball-carrier, Moore is ranked as an excellent defensive player and field general.

Moore also was the chief ground-gainer of the Loyola freshmen eleven last season. The 1925 variety of the Wolves is made up, with the exception of two players, of members of the 1925 freshmen machine. During the two years these athletes have scored a total of 388 points to 16 by their opponents and have never been defeated. Their closest call came last season when they were tied by the Vanderbilt freshmen. In six tussles in 1925 the freshmen collected 193 points and were not scored on. In seven tilts this year the Wolf pack has scored 195 points against 16 by opponents.

In their most important engagements this season, Eddie Reed's charges tamed Detroit 36 to 0 and turned back Baylor 13 to 10.

ATLANTA U. MEETSHOWARD ON SATURDAY

BY J. C. CHUNN.

The Crimson Hurricane of the University of Atlanta has been busy all week in running signals and scrimmage workouts in preparation for the big game with the Bisons of Howard university Saturday.

Coach Aiken has drilled his men with perfection against the powerful aerial attack with which Howard defeated many of their rivals.

Lamar, Slaughter, Roberson, Riley and Ford form a strong line with Wright and the veteran Clay on ends, and they should hold the Bisons at bay.

Coach Aiken will open up on the Bisons. It has been rumored that the Hurricane did not use any of its new tricks against the Tigers a few Saturdays, but will use them at Spiller's park tomorrow against what is said to be the greatest football eleven in the conference.

The aerial attack of A. U. deserves much credit, and will be depended on mostly to turn back the invaders.

The whole colored population is enthused over the approaching game, and it is expected a crowd of between 8,000 and 10,000 will attend the classic.

The Bisons entrained at Washington Thursday, and are expected to arrive in Atlanta some time this afternoon.

Coach Watson is bringing a squad of 30 men for the battle.

Cornell, Dartmouth, Columbia and Penn, May Line With Tiger

Princeton Athletic Heads Have Not Considered Formation—New Big Three is Also Hinted—Nassau-Harvard Breach Seen Irreparable.

New York, November 11.—(AP)—The break-up of the historic "big three" brought about by Princeton's decision to snap all athletic ties with Harvard because of ill-feeling surrounding their gridiron relations, may lead to a shake-up all along the eastern football front and the formation of an eastern conference of major colleges.

The groundwork for such realignment of college athletic interests already has been laid to such extent that many close observers expect Princeton to be invited without delay to join a group that would embrace Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania, with Brown, Army, Navy and possibly Yale also sought as members.

The possibility of such an association, already known to be under discussion, was an outstanding development today as eastern eyes focused on the results of the swift Tiger stroke that put an end overnight to the oldest of all football rivalries.

Any prospect that the sudden breach between Princeton and Harvard might be closed, as suggested today by such prominent Princeton supporters as Howard Elliott, president of the Harvard board of overseers, apparently was eliminated by athletic authorities at Cambridge, accepting Princeton's decision with regret, at the same time, this statement emphasized a policy henceforth that will commit the Crimson to only one fixed football game a year, that to be the climax battle with Yale.

Princeton's attitude now apparently is that the case with Harvard is "closed" and that the Tiger will pursue its own course without further dealings with the Crimson.

The step taken by the Princeton board of athletic control last night, although undoubtedly hastened by developments in connection with the Tiger 12-0 victory over Harvard and the jibes of the lampoon, Harvard undergraduate publication, actually was the result of a long series of events, it was made clear today. One of the most important factors, from the Tiger viewpoint, was the attempt of Harvard not long ago to substitute Michigan on its 1927 schedule for Princeton, a move later forestalled by Yale's peace-making efforts.

The realignment of playing dates bringing to the fore the possibilities of an eastern conference, a grouping which has been under discussion frequently in the past but the fulfillment of which always has been blocked by the refusal of the "big three" to take part. Now that the ancient triumvirate is broken up, with its traditional ties limited only to Yale and Harvard, the Tiger sees a ripe opportunity for bringing together congenial interests and systematizing schedules so that eastern eleven may be ranked as they are through conferences in other parts of the country.

The nucleus for an early grouping already is provided by Cornell, Columbia, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania. These four now play interlocking schedules and would welcome Princeton in the formation of a "big five." Cornell renews gridiron relations with Princeton and Pennsylvania. The presence of Brown, Army, Navy and Yale would round out a representative list and approach another "big ten" organization.

Dartmouth, however, it is suggested in some quarters, may more readily be persuaded to form a new and all-New England "big three" with Harvard and Yale. The Green played both the Crimson and Blue this year and is on their schedules again next season.

Rialto Theater.

"The Flaming Frontier," which commemorates the 50th anniversary of the massacre of General George A. Custer and his command by Chief Sitting Bull and his Sioux in 1876, closes after two more days' showing at the Rialto theater.

The picture has attracted much comment by its historical accuracy and has provided thousands of Atlanta school children with an available lesson in the history of the winning of the great American west, at the same time providing them with thrilling and spectacular entertainment.

Loew's Grand.

With five star the bill at Loew's Grand theater this week headed by "Danceland," a beautiful dancing fantasy, is one of the best bills of the season and at the same time a very enjoyable one. The picture is a colorful presentation, directed and staged by John Murray Anderson.

The Forsyth.

"Laff That Off" is keeping innumerable Atlantans busy trying to "laff it off" this week at the Forsyth theater. The offering is one of the nicest and most enjoyable bits of comedy it has been the pleasure of play lovers to witness in some time and Atlantans are showing their appreciation by turning out en masse just as often as matinees and night show hours come around.

Naturally, Jeanne Devoreaux, James Coots and Alan Devitt are the big draws—because they have the big parts. Just a wee step behind is Rhea Dwyer, Theodosia Shaler, Gus Forbes, Jay Mulvey, Lawrence Keatinge, Joseph Egan and an array of others—all of whom are to be seen and heard between laughs.

Tomorrow a matinee and night performance ends the wonderful week of "Laff That Off."

bill for the last times today at the Tenth Street theater, she has a role that seems as though it were written for her. No other luminary of screen could have portrayed this character quite as perfectly as Clara Bow has done. It is a masterpiece in casting and credit should be given to Paramount who obtained this vehicle for Miss Bow. "The Plastic Age" is a picture of the Percy Marks novel of the same name.

Howard Theater.

"The Prince of Tempters," which is playing at the Howard theater now, has a great cast including Lois Moran, Ren Lyon, Lya de Putti and Mary Brian. Those who read the novel by E. Phillips Oppenheim, under the title of "The Ex-Duke," remember that the prince of tempters was not launched upon his career as a flirt until, after leaving the monastery that had sheltered him for the first 20 years of his life, he fell victim in a series of adventures to the seductive life and left him unacquainted to cope with.

Thus, curiosity turns to disillusionment, and disillusionment finds its way back to love—with Mary's help. This week's Public stage attraction is "Phantom Melodies," a colorful presentation, directed and staged by John Murray Anderson.

Coming to the Howard.

One of the outstanding events of the season in this city will be the appearance of George Beban and his large company in his latest motion picture, "The Loves of Ricardo," which will be seen at the Howard theater next week.

Mr. Beban brings with him, in addition to his original production, a company of 27 players who will appear in person and upon the stage in a combination of the silent and the spoken drama which Mr. Beban originated several years ago. The spoken act consists of the personal appearance of George Beban, a number of singers, dancers and musicians. The motion picture itself is full of pathos and comedy.

Alamo No. 2.

The New Alamo No. 2 theater is showing the last of the great Rudolph Valentino films this week. This is none other than "The Son of the Sheik," the picture Valentino had just finished before he died. The picture is a masterpiece of the last three days and is greeted by the showing of this great film and it has been arranged to hold it all week including Saturday. The public is advised to take advantage of the last three days and see it. The performances starting at 9:30 and 10:40 a. m. are recommended to avoid the crowds. "The Son of the Sheik" will be shown at the New Alamo No. 2 theater all this week.

The Metropolitan.

Red Grange, idol of millions of football fans, is winning new laurels this week at the Metropolitan theater, where his big feature photoplay, "One Minute to Play," is being shown. The picture is a masterpiece of the last three days and is greeted by the showing of this great film and it has been arranged to hold it all week including Saturday. The public is advised to take advantage of the last three days and see it. The performances starting at 9:30 and 10:40 a. m. are recommended to avoid the crowds. "The Son of the Sheik" will be shown at the New Alamo No. 2 theater all this week.

Tudor.

Showing now at the Tudor is Harry Carey's latest western feature, "Satan Town," the story of a man who exacted a small city and dedicated it to the devil, a haven of vice and crime of all kinds—the man who had paid for all and who swore down upon the city like an avenging angel, guns flaming tribulation to the denizens of Satan Town.

West End Theater.

Playing its last times today at the West End theater is that dramatic masterpiece of all times, "East Lynne." Perhaps no other novel or stage subject is quite so familiar to the American public as the play, "East Lynne."

Peaches Must Delay Buying, Judge Orders

THREE MORE HELD AS WOMAN DIES

White Plains, N. Y., November 11.—An armistice has been declared between "Peaches" Browning and the department stores where the youthful bride of the elderly realtor was wont to charge her gowns and hats.

In adjourning a hearing of the first while Miss Heenan's application for $25,000 counsel fees and alimony of $4,000 a month, Justice Joe Morchauer warned counsel for the young plaintiff:

"In the meantime, there are to be no new hats, new coats, or new dresses."

Miss Heenan, whose marriage to Edward W. Browning created a nationwide sensation, brought suit Thursday for separation on the grounds of cruelty.

When she asked for the sum of $4,000 a month, alimony, Judge Morchauer hesitated and said that the case would have to be continued over until next Monday.

"Peaches" left her elderly husband on October 2, after a six-month honeymoon, and both have suits in court in New York state bearing upon a separation.

When the suit brought by "Peaches" was introduced it was learned that the girl asked $25,000 counsel fees in addition to the alimony.

After the suit brought by "Peaches" was served on "Peaches." This must be answered December 4.

Markham, Party Here To Inspect Lines of Central

Accompanied by J. J. Pelley, president of the Central Georgia Railway, and other chief officials, Charles H. Markham, chairman of the board of directors of the Illinois Central system, Central of Georgia and Ocean Steamship company, were in Atlanta Thursday on a tour of inspection of a portion of the Central of Georgia lines.

After an automobile trip over the city the party left for their special train of nine private cars for New York by way of Savannah.

Mr. Pelley, spokesman of the company, declared the officials were impressed with the growing industrial interests of this section. "The effects of the cotton situation on general business," he said, "can scarcely be foretold at this moment, but I see no reason for pessimism. I think the manner in which farmers, business men and bankers of the south have gotten together about this matter is a wonderful tribute to their moral stamina and to their cooperative spirit."

HUGE DEATH TOLL TAKEN BY AUTOS

Washington, November 11.—During the last 20 years 105,000 people have been killed in automobile accidents, more than the total of losses of the United States armies during the world war from wounds, diseases and other causes.

This number of death, if applied to the populations of such cities as Fort Worth, Texas; Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Youngstown, Ohio, would wipe them out entirely. The committee on traffic accidents of the national conference on street and highway safety, which compiled the figures, estimates that if the death rate should continue at its present level for the next 20 years, the total deaths in that period would be 140,000, equivalent to the total population of such large cities as Minneapolis, New Orleans or Cincinnati. If the death rate should remain stationary and the population increase as it has since 1920, the number of deaths would be about 320,000 in the next 20 years, equivalent to the population of such cities as Milwaukee and Washington, D. C.

Automobile deaths increased steadily from 1906 to 1925, every year showing an increase over the preceding one. The increase has been parallel with the increase in the number of machines. During the second ten years of the period, 1916 to 1925, more than five people were killed for every one killed during the first ten years.

Statistics show there were 412 deaths in 1906, increasing to 21,027 in 1925.

Increased Postal Facilities Seen For Atlanta Soon

Washington, November 11.—(Special.)—The exceptionally fine record of the postoffice in Atlanta showing increases of population to be served and of receipts from increased mailings has impressed the postoffice department authorities with the justice and necessity of an immediate enlargement of postal facilities at that office. This subject is under earnest study in order to reach an agreement with Secretary Mellon, who has the decision in apportioning public building appropriations out of the blanket fund appropriated by the last session of congress.

The hope and belief at the department is that a new and individual post office building soon will be authorized for Atlanta and be erected where the mails can be most easily handled to and from train terminals. It is expected that eligible sites already are in view, having been offered by Atlanta owners.

A conference of southeastern rural school supervisors has been called to meet in Raleigh, N. C., December 6 and 7. The object is to promote improvement of the schools by better buildings, equipment and qualified teachers. Eminent expert authorities in rural school matters will be present to advise the supervisors and give practical answers to all problems presented.

PLEA FOR PEACE MADE BY MARIE

Kansas City, November 11.—(AP.)—A plea for world peace was voiced here tonight by Queen Marie of Rumania in placing a wreath at the base of Liberty memorial, dedicated earlier in the day by President Coolidge.

Standing in a blaze of light amid an even greater throng than that which greeted the chief executive, the queen greeted the cheering multitude and said:

"It is an especially wonderful moment for me to be here for it is a symbol of peace, a symbol of the great desire all the world over that there should be no more fearful wars to destroy those we love."

While traveling from Denver to Kansas City, the queen Marie of Rumania's celebration of Armistice day by greeting thousands who waited for her at cities en route.

She sent a radio message to her husband, King Ferdinand of Rumania, broadcasting from a microphone of station KFKX which was sent aboard her train during a brief stop at Hastings, Neb. The king had been advised by cable that, at 4:30 p. m., Rumania time, Marie would attempt to speak to him through a radio hookup extending to powerful eastern stations. She awaited word tonight that Bucharest had received her message.

The queen told Ferdinand she was enjoying her visit, and that America thrived with its recovery. She advised that thousands of crippled war veterans in many hospitals were listening in, the queen gave them individual messages of appreciation of their services during the war, and especially on behalf of Rumania.

Princess Ileana sent her father a message of affection in her native tongue.

Several thousand persons, including residents of nearby towns, cheered the queen at Hastings and still more were at Lincoln and Omaha, where special brief stops were arranged. At Omaha an American Legion bugle corps serenaded the royal visitors, while the city's greetings were being extended by the officials.

Rumanian residents were given preferred places around the queen's car and Marie charmed with many of them in their own language. Several children in native garb climbed on the observation platform and were rewarded with queenly pats.

It was decided today that while Prince Nicholas and his sister are traveling to and from the Army-Navy game in Chicago, Queen Marie and the rest of her party will make a return from Washington to St. Louis and Lakewood, N. J. She will be joined by her children at White Sulphur Springs, West Va., the following day.

Mr. Deans is alleged to have made two wills. In the first he bequeathed practically his entire estate to Miss Rhea Lawrence, beauty contest winner. Miss Lawrence is said to have accompanied him to a Minnesota hospital where she acted as his nurse during a long illness. The second testament, made 13 days later, left Miss Lawrence a large residence and a lot on Peachtree road and the residue of the estate to his relatives. The first will was never offered for probate and the second was filed and judgment for probate rendered.

When young Deans learned that the will had been probated, he immediately brought suit setting out that he was the only son and only legal heir of the late wealthy Atlantan and that he had never been mentioned in the will or notified of the filing of the will for probate.

The testament will again be filed for probate in the court of ordinary in the next few days, according to attorneys.

At the present time Frank Deans is a Rhodes scholarship candidate for the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and is studying for a doctor's degree. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma, national collegiate fraternity.

SEEK NEW WITNESS IN CHOIR MURDERS

Russell woman testified Mrs. Gibson could not have been near the notorious trysting place when the murders were committed because at that very moment she was visiting at the Russell house.

The result of this attack on Mrs. Gibson was that the grand jury tossed her testimony out of the window and found no indictments, despite the great mass of circumstantial evidence that seemed to link her to the murders and her brothers with the crime.

Black Art Devotee.

The state now contends that the negro woman is a student of black magic and that she has been attempting to terrorize the pig woman with strange formulae and incantations. State troopers recently found a small green book in Russell woman's shack—one of those paper-covered volumes dealing with black art, purchasable in any stationery store. Certain passages were marked, Simpson said today. If it is said the negro woman sent a copy to Mrs. Gibson with a warning about the power of voodooism.

When the defense calls her, this book will be produced by the prosecution, along with the Russell woman's police record and other unfavorable facts which the state is said to have unearthed about her.

Simpson said he planned to investigate the racial antecedents of Wil-

DOCTORS TO PASS ON SCHOOL HOURS

air each day, but our plan really calls for additional recreation outdoors," Mr. Sutton said. "Another objection raised, that children who work will be deprived of their incomes, but we intend to so work out our schedules, if the program is put in effect, that these students will be cared for."

The objections that all students will be forced to get their lunches at school cafeterias is unfounded, because students under the plan could get their lunches at any convenient place or bring them from home. When the $500,000 fund for equipment was included in the $8,000,000 bond issue for civic improvements in Atlanta, we provided the $500,000 needed to install the cafeterias. So the money will not come from current expenditures of money for schools.

The department of administration of public schools is not disposed to press our plans.

Strong opposition to longer school days as proposed in resolutions passed by the board of education was voiced Wednesday afternoon by the Spring Street P. T. A. in a motion passed at the regular meeting of the association at the school. The motion was made by Mrs. Robert Gregg.

The protest of the association was based upon the opinion that Atlanta's climate will not permit longer school hours and that the children would be deprived of recreation, fresh air and rest necessary to their proper development, and that many mothers of more than one child would not be able to pay for lunches each day as proposed under the cafeteria idea.

Letters from Charles E. Boynton, Dr. Hugh Lokey, Dr. W. N. Atkins and others urging opposition to the proposal of longer hours were read at the meeting.

DEANS WINS POINT IN WILL BATTLE

brought by Frank Deans against W. D. Deans, of Deans pharmacy in the Hart building, and Charles Deans, executor of the estate, estimated at $100,000.

The allegations of the petitioner, which averred that the defendants perpetrated a fraud on the court and that they knew at the time of the filing of the will for probate that it was a fraud, were sustained by the court.

Deans, a son of the late Robert E. Deans, existed were true, according to the order.

The petitioner's counsel pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. Deans were married on December 26, 1904, in Charleston, S. C., the ceremony being performed by Dr. D. M. McEvey, former pastor of the Third Hill Presbyterian church and also pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Charleston, S. C. Evidence corroborating this fact was obtained from Mrs. Kirk McEvey Cameron, formerly of Charleston and now of Tampa, Fla., who was a witness to the ceremony.

Dr. G. A. Mulherson, vice president of the Georgia Medical board and at present professor in the University of Georgia medical school, attested that Deans in 1904, in December, 1906, at the time of the birth of young Deans and recorded the usual certificate of birth, it is declared.

Many prominent witnesses from various cities in which Mr. and Mrs. Deans resided have testified that the couple with their son, Frank, lived in Havana, Cuba, in 1907, in Troy, Ala., Montgomery and in Atlanta. Among the witnesses testifying to these facts were: Mrs. J. M. Bashinsky, vice president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and former president of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. J. R. Buchanan, formerly of Havana, Cuba, a sister of Marvin Thibault, prominent Atlantan; Mrs. Martha Howard McGill, of Atlanta; Dr. J. L. Hill, prominent physician of Montgomery, and many others.

The couple were divorced in an orthodox manner in 1914 in Troy, Ala., according to records.

Frank Deans and his mother, who is now Mrs. Frances B. Leuchtenburg, are represented by Attorneys Horace Russell, Robert Alston and Ed. A. Stephens, of Atlanta, and J. Monroe Spears, of South Carolina.

Two Wills Claimed.

Mr. Deans is alleged to have made two wills. In the first he bequeathed practically his entire estate to Miss Rhea Lawrence, beauty contest winner. Miss Lawrence is said to have accompanied him to a Minnesota hospital where she acted as his nurse during a long illness. The second testament, made 13 days later, left Miss Lawrence a large residence and a lot on Peachtree road and the residue of the estate to his relatives. The first will was never offered for probate and the second was filed and judgment for probate rendered.

BAKER OUTLINES LAKE GRIEVANCE

Washington, November 11.—(AP.)—Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, today was the chief witness in the supreme court lake level hearing before Special Master Charles E. Hughes.

In support of the contention that diversion of Lake Michigan waters through the Chicago sanitary canal is a vital factor, Baker, who is chief counsel for the complainant states, submitted testimony that Chicago's withdrawals have so reduced channel depths in Great Lakes harbors as to add $1,000,000 to the cost of shipping on the bulk of the inter-lake traffic.

Colonel Edward M. Markham, army engineer formerly in charge of the Sault Ste. Marie locks, estimated that the lower level had reduced by approximately 4,000,000 tons the carrying capacity of the Great Lakes fleet in 1925. Vessels employed in that year, he explained, might have carried in the same number of trips, 4,000,000 tons more freight than actually was carried had they enjoyed six inches more draft. The complainant charge that the Chicago diversion has lowered the lake level approximately six inches, and seeks to curb future withdrawal.

BRITISH SEE HOPE FOR NINE PEACE

BY CHARLES M. MCANN.
London, November 12.—(Friday.)—Fighting through the night for industrial peace which seemed near on the afternoon of November 11, the British government and miners' representatives broke off their labors at 3:10 o'clock this morning.

A national tribunal to handle the disputes of miners and owners appears to be the keynote of the new plan. The miners are reported to have accepted that point and to have abandoned the demand for a seven-hour day and distinct national agreement.

It is stated reliably that the proposed government tribunal will consist of three non-partisan experts who will function only six months.

Immediate resumption of work through district settlements will be the goal of the miners' federation if the memorandum is accepted. The plan arranged states that the hours of the miners' days are to be considered in forming the district settlements.

The memorandum states that the owners have informed the government that in every district except Durham, Cumberland, and North Wales, they will pay temporarily, after the resumption of work, a general district percentage on the basis of rates not below those prevailing April 30. In addition they will pay the same subsistence wage in where where the 1924 agreement provided for such payment.

The memorandum also says that the owners are ready now to appoint in each district a special joint committee on the transfer of prices. It also promises that workmen will be reinstated in the mines as the opportunity occurs without prejudicing the men now at work.
